While the Communists dish out propaganda at their big youth rally in east Berlin, they don't seem to be dishing out much food. So the young Reds have been crossing the border to west Berlin, where they find plenty of good food at the U.S. Army Youth camp. Here Capt. Carolyn H. Jones and her helpers feed some of the visitors.

U.S. HOUSE URGES SANCTIONS ON CZECHS TO RELEASE OATIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives today unanimously advocated immediate severance of United States commercial relations with Czechoslovakia until William N. Oatis is freed from a Prague jail.

The chamber passed and sent to the Senate a resolution expressing the sense of Congress that such action would be taken.

Deletion from the resolution was an earlier provision advocating eventual severance of diplomatic ties with Czechoslovakia if Oatis isn't freed in 90 days.

Italian Seismographs Knocked Out By Quakes

Italian seismologists late Monday night recorded a violent earthquake with an epicentre somewhere between 730 and 1,350 miles from Rome, possibly in eastern Greece.

They said the shock would have had "destructive and catastrophic" effects if it occurred in an inhabited area.

Shortly before the Italian reports, a dispatch from Ankara, Turkey, said a strong earthquake lasting 11 seconds was felt in the Anatolia and Gandakiri areas of central Turkey, which is several hundred miles east of Greece. The Turkish shocks caused unspecified damage.

Seismographs at the Leghorn and Faenza observatories in Italy registered tremors of "exceptional intensity."

Experts at Faenza said the tremors surpassed those which razed the city of Messina, Italy, in 1908 and killed 75,000 persons. They were so strong they knocked out the Faenza instruments and prevented exact observation.

Southern and central Italy was shaken by quakes Sunday night. At the port city of Ancona the tremors sent panic-stricken inhabitants scurrying from their homes. No damage or injuries were reported. Also shaken were the cities of Florence, Modena and Leghorn.

A strong earthquake shock also was felt in a province of Chile north of the capital, Santiago. The little city of La Serena bore the brunt of the tremors but no damage or casualties were reported.

Harriman Asks For Oil Talk Moderation

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—W. Averell Harriman called on Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi today to appeal for continued moderation in the critical British-Iranian oil talks.

While President Truman's special envoy met Iran's ruler, Premier Mohammed Mossadegh called the cabinet into special session to discuss the latest British offer to settle the oil nationalization dispute.

Neither the British negotiators nor the Iranians would disclose the specific details of the offer, presented last night by Richard Stokes, chief of the British negotiating team.

But informed sources said Mossadegh's first reaction was coolness toward the British proposal for joint operation of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's well and refineries, which Iran nationalized last spring.

OFFERED GUARANTEE
Stokes did reveal that Britain had offered a guarantee against any interference in Iranian affairs.

West Germans Nab Russians

HOF (AP)—Three Russians and 10 east Germans who crossed the zonal border into west Germany searching for uranium deposits were captured Monday by west German police.

Three others escaped and fled back across the border.

The captives told the police they had crossed the poorly marked border by mistake while seeking uranium ore on the Russian zone side. Uranium, the basic constituent of atom bombs, is reported to be mined in east Germany and shipped to Russia.

Two of those captured were identified by police as Russian soldiers in uniform. One was said to be a Russian civilian and the others east German technicians. Two of the three who escaped also were Russian soldiers, the police said.

The civilian prisoners said the Russian soldiers had accompanied them as "protection."

Inquiry Board Hears Of Small Girl's Death

CRANBROOK (CP)—British Columbia Hospital Insurance has refused to pay the last 25 days in hospital of a nine-year-old girl who died of rheumatic fever and tuberculosis, arguing that the case was chronic, the Legislature inquiry board was told here Monday.

The girl's case was cited by Sister Miriam of Jesus, accountant of St. Eugene Hospital. The doctor had said the case was acute and that hospital care was required.

The bill for 25 days was $235 and the father refuses to pay.

H. F. Welch, Comox-Alberni, an inquiry board member, said "I wish we could make a com-

$10,000,000 May Be Involved In Big Transaction

Another big deal in B.C. expanding paper and pulp industry was disclosed today.

Powell River Company, the province's largest newsprint producer, and B.C. Manufacturing Company, controlling large lumber operations announced negotiations have started to join the interests of the two companies.

The multi-million dollar transaction, when completed, will mean that the B.C. Manufacturing Company, the Westminister Shook Mills, Maple Ridge Lumber Company and the Salmon River Logging Company on the north-eastern coast of Vancouver Island will become part of the Powell River Company.

It may involve $10,000,000 and will give Powell River Company more than 2,000,000,000 feet of timber on Vancouver Island and a valuable forest management license.

The deal will make it possible for closer integration of the huge forest holdings of the various companies and lead to complete use of the wood products they control.

At the same time it will lead to better harvesting of the sawmill and logging waste for the pulp and paper operations.

An immediate effect will be to ensure maximum newsprint production at the Powell River plant for the balance of this year, the announcement said.

It is expected a new chipping plant will be erected on a site not yet decided to supply chips from waste for the paper and pulp mills.

At the same time the Salmon River Logging Company, which holds a forest license in the district, will start a full scale forest salvage operation on its Vancouver Island holdings.

MAXIMUM EMPLOYMENT

A Powell River spokesman said the joining of the two pioneer enterprises will ensure maximum employment for the workers of both companies and is in the best interests of the public and the government as well as the shareholders by conservation of all forest products into their proper economic units.

The official announcement said no public financing is required for the deal.

Search Debris For Further Plane Victims

Toll In Seattle Crash Still At 11

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—Firemen are sifting through the charred rubble of a frame apartment house today to hunt additional victims cremated when a B-50 bomber, roared into the building, killing at least 11 and injuring 12 others.

"Only God knows how many more we'll find," Coroner John P. Brill, Jr., said. "I know of at least one that must be there—we found his wife dead yesterday."

Estimates of the number of dead still in the ruins ranged as high as "20 to 30"—the number of tenants still unaccounted for. But Assistant Fire Chief R. B. Rogers said "we estimate that there shouldn't be more than five to seven bodies still in there."

Firemen used a large mobile crane with a claw-like shovel to move away the debris.

TERRIFIC HEAT

The search was postponed Monday night when heat kept firemen from approaching close to the white-hot core of the wreckage.

Half of the three-story, 49-unit building was destroyed when the big bomber—its wings perpendicular to the ground—grazed a nearby brewery then crunched into the apartment house.

An instant later 4,000 gallons of high-test gasoline burst into flame.

Fire licked across the roof and then the whole structure roared into blaze.

Frenzied residents—taken completely by surprise—dashed from their apartments to escape the flames and crumbling wood.

One woman, hanging out her wash on the roof, was knocked 25 feet into brush behind the building by the impact.

TOSSES BABY OUT

A young mother who was caught in her flaming third-floor apartment tossed eight-month-old baby into the outstretched arms of her husband standing 25 feet below.

Some of the tenants leaped from windows and fled down fire escapes in a mad scramble to flee. Others never knew what hit them and never had a chance to escape.

"The whole building seemed to come apart," said John F. Thomas, 24, who leaped from the third floor to get out of the building.

Cities Drop Phone Rates Joint Action

B.C. municipalities have decided not to oppose jointly the application by the B.C. Telephone Co. for a rate increase. It was revealed today.

Letters have gone out to all executive members of the Union of B.C. Municipalities from secretary R. F. Sewell, of Victoria, advising that the president, Mayor Percy George, considered a joint brief "not feasible."

Reason for the decision to drop the idea of a joint brief came when only 16 of 57 municipalities included said they were in favor of outright opposition to the application.

Eleven municipalities, including Victoria, Oak Bay and Saanich, qualified their opposition, while the remaining 30 had taken no action and had not replied to a query on the matter.

Course likely to be followed now is to have as many municipalities as possible draw up their own individual briefs for presentation to the Board of Transport Commissioners.

The transport board is scheduled to hold a public hearing in Victoria October 4. The meeting probably will be held in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

BOLZANO, Italy (AP)—Thirty-five persons were drowned Monday night when a crowded excursion bus plunged into an icy Alpine lake.

Only one passenger, a woman, was saved. Police said she crawled through a bus window and was pulled from the waters of Lake Resia near the Swiss border by several men in a rowboat.

Sprinkle Brings Fresh Hope Of End To Drought

Fresh hopes that the 62-day southern Vancouver Island drought will end shortly came this afternoon as sprinkles of rain fell over the city in the wake of shifting pressure areas off the west coast of the Island.

The slight rain came on the heels of a long-range weather forecast here Monday that the disturbance off the coast, plus an Alaska-born storm heading this way, might within three days bring an end to the long dry spell which has halted logging operations and struck heavy blows at agriculture here and the tourist industry up-Island.

Meanwhile, rain-bearing clouds early today also dropped precious moisture up-Island over Comox and surrounding areas to bring relief there to farmers and at the same time help alleviate danger of more devastating forest fires.

It was the second rain up-Island in three days and further confirmed the forecast here of Weatherman Bill Mackie that a rain pattern is being set.

The Alaska storm is expected to reach South Vancouver Island and Victoria early this evening.

But the Gonzales weatherman, Mr. Mackie, warned against being too optimistic.

"The storm shows signs of petering out," he said.

The rain was welcomed on the northern part of the Island where forest fires have been constant threat. More heavy rain would result in the lifting of the forest closure in these areas, Forest Service officials said.

However, the weatherman did not expect the rain to be of long duration. There were no signs yet of another disturbance which would keep rain-bearing clouds moving over the Island, he explained.

The oldest sister, Margie, 11, was awakened by the flames and made a futile attempt to rescue the children before flames drove her out.

Dead were twins, Joann and Larry Jr., 6; Jerry, 5, and Donna Jean, 8.

Margie told Sheriff Smith "I could hardly breathe in the smoke and flames but I tried to get my sisters out."

"The fire made me run out and get the neighbors. They came back and tried to get in, but none of us could."

The cabin burned to the ground within minutes after the alarm was sounded, Sheriff Smith said.

Mrs. Brotherton was hospitalized for shock.

COL. DONALD MCGUGAN

(above) is expected to be appointed shortly as B.C.'s new liquor commissioner, succeeding the late W. F. Kennedy. Col. McGugan has been with the liquor board staff for 29 years.

He served as assistant commissioner under the late Hugh Davidson and in recent years Mr. Kennedy's right-hand man as supervisor of law enforcement for the board and in charge of the liquor warehouse here.

Until Near End 'The Chief' Was Active In Direction

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—William Randolph Hearst, the publisher, died today. He was 88.

The man whose chain of American newspapers represented a $200,000,000 enterprise at its peak succumbed in a coma at his home here.

He had been ill for some time and periodically in recent years there were reports that he was dying, but his native strength repeatedly returned "the chief" to active direction of his papers.

Then Monday Hearst sank into a coma. He died at 9.50 a.m. (12.50 p.m. E.D.T.) today.

Hearst was one of the United States' most controversial figures in newspaper editing and publishing. On one hand he was called a "yellow journalist" and on the other, a genius.

He was a great campaigner for or against causes. He fought public utilities, battled governments, was an uncompromising foe of Communism. Equally, he was a champion of Americanism. He fought for the eight-hour day and women's suffrage.

Executives of the Hearst papers, as well as employees, knew him as "the chief."

Present were his sons, William Randolph Hearst, Jr., George, John, David and Randolph Hearst.

Also present were Martin F. Hubert, chairman of the board of the Hearst Corporation, and Richard E. Berlin, president of the corporation.

Hearst died after several recent brain hemorrhages. Dr. Myron Printzmetz, the publisher's physician, who was called to the home, issued the following statement:

"Mr. William Randolph Hearst, Sr., enjoyed robust health until approximately four years ago, when he became subject to the ailments of advanced age. Recently he suffered several cerebral vascular accidents from which he never fully recovered. He passed away quietly at 9.50 a.m." (See page 3 for outline of colorful Hearst career.)

All were repulsed.

Powerful U.N. air and naval forces — belittled by Reds at cease-fire talks — smashed at Red reinforcement lines to check the build-up.

Warships led by the U.S. cruiser Toledo shelled bridges and railways as much as 220 miles north of the 38th parallel.

Further south, three destroyers sank nine sampans trying to sneak Red supplies along water routes from Wonsan, east coast port now in its 180th day of siege. British, Australian and New Zealand warships hammered Reds on the east coast.

Meteor jets of the Royal Australian Air Force flew fighter cover for U.S. bombers in a big air raid on Pyongyang, North Korean capital, today.

Expect Red Filibuster At Peace Treaty Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials expect Russian delegates to walk out of the 50-country Japanese peace conference after staging a spectacular propaganda show to emphasize Moscow's opposition.

These officials expressed confidence to a reporter that Russia's denunciations would not succeed in blocking the signing of a peace treaty by an overwhelming majority of other countries.

The United States is ready to sign without Russia, if necessary, said these officials who may not be quoted by name.

State Secretary Dean Acheson, they hinted, may have a trick or two up his sleeve to curb the anticipated Russian propaganda filibuster.

Moscow's delegates headed by Acting Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, have promised to show up in San Francisco Sept. 4 for the conference.

Department officials look for Communist Czechoslovakia and Poland, the only Russian satellites invited, to follow Moscow's lead shortly and announce they will attend the conference.

An American plan for thwarting Russia's designs at San Francisco is reported to call for:

1. Limiting speeches to the subject of Japanese peace treaty draft.

2. A majority-vote rule which can be used to declare violators "out of order."

BRITISH REACTION
LONDON (CP)—Britain expressed hope today that Russia would make a "constructive contribution" towards the conclusion of a Japanese peace treaty.

A Foreign Office spokesman told reporters Britain at the same time thinks it is a pity the Soviets intend coming forth with counter-proposals to the Anglo-American draft treaty "at so late a date."

Without expressly saying so, British officials appear to believe Russia's decision to join the peace parley will make it difficult to stick to the intended timetable. Anglo-American-French talks probably will begin at once to map a joint strategy for meeting any Russian filibuster.

Parties Open Election Bids
WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters)—Labor Party leader Walter Nash today opened his campaign for next month's general election with a promise to undertake special measures to combat inflation and re-establish currency and credit control.

Announcing his party's platform, Nash said, consumer subsidies on many essential goods would be reimposed. He said effective price control would be maintained but taxation concessions would be provided on profits used by companies to maintain extended production.

Nash said the Labor Party would continue the policy of developing a balanced defense force and work in close co-operation with Britain and the Commonwealth.

He also pledged support to the United Nations and promised New Zealand aid for world economic development.

Life's Darkest Moment : : : : BY H. T. WEBSTER

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

FACTS AND 'FRILLS'

A FEW WEEKS ago a group of parents in an eastern state banded together to protest against the multiplicity of subjects being currently crowded into the American school curriculum, insisting that some of them be dropped to permit more emphasis—and time—to be given to the three "R's."

IGNORANT COLLEGIANS

I APPRECIATED the parental perturbation that prompted that protest all the more after reading another U.S. newspaper story which coincided with it, and which recorded the apparent ignorance of a group of American college students who failed lamentably in a fairly simple geography test. But before we lift our hands in pious horror at the thought of such shortcomings in American college students—or the American educational system—it might be well to take a look nearer home.

Having also read of that particular mass "flunking," the head of the department of geography of the Western University, Ontario, was prompted to take a test along similar lines among Canadian students. So he selected a group of 32, representing a cross-section of those attending the Summer School at the university in London.

STARTLING RESULTS

AMONG THE SERIES of questions he posed to test their geographical knowledge was one of peculiar interest to Victorians. For one of the most startling results was the group of answers given to the question: "What is the distance between Victoria, B.C., and St. John's, Newfoundland?" The correct answer, of course, is 3,700 miles; but those Ontario students gave guesses ranging from 2,000 miles to 12,000. Now, I know that for years we out here have been deeply conscious of our remoteness from Ontario, but it doesn't lessen the shock to learn that some young Ontarians, at least, have metaphorically pushed us some thousands of miles farther out into the Pacific Ocean—and done the same to Newfoundland on the other side.

BADLY STYMIED

AFTER THAT, it isn't surprising to hear that some of the same students were just as badly stymied on the question of population. When asked as to what it was in the United States, replies ranged from 30 million to almost nine billion—instead of 150,000,000. On Canada, the results were better, but still 20 per cent fell down, their answers ranging as high as one billion!

Other questions had to do with provinces and states bordering on the Great Lakes. Thirty-five per cent of those Ontario students thought the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Quebec had frontages on the lakes, while only two of the group could name the eight states fringing those great sheets of water.

Some of my readers will probably be honest enough to admit that they, too, didn't know all the answers. That may be. But it still doesn't excuse students who have reached the age—and the grade—requisite to enter into a university summer school. If their knowledge of geography generally is as poor as their knowledge of their own part of their own country, then it doesn't say much for their schooling.

More than once I have been appalled at the poor showing of some of our young Canadians on subjects which were considered fundamental in my far-distant youth, such as decent handwriting, spelling, geography and arithmetic—while at the same time they astonished me with their glibness on social science and other academic subjects. But while this no doubt confirms me as an old "fuddy-duddy," I take comfort out of the knowledge that some parents—and who knows, perhaps some professors?—share my antiquated ideas.

Funeral service for Arthur Robert Restell, 61, will be held tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel.

Mr. Restell, a resident of Victoria for the past 61 years, was born in London, Eng. He served with the King's Royal Rifles in India after enlisting at the age of 13.

Economy Wave Held Invading U.S. Congress

Sentiment Growing For 'Horn Pulling'

WASHINGTON (UP)—A congressional economy wave began to sweep over the administration's $8,500,000,000 foreign-aid program today.

Sen. Owen Brewster, R., Me., would not predict how much would be swept away from the military and economic aid bills but reported a "general sentiment for hauling in our horns a little."

The House foreign affairs committee was set to suggest a $651,000,000 cutback, and Sen. William F. Knowland, R., Calif., proposed a 15-per-cent across-the-board cut in the program.

Other Congressional developments:

Military construction—House leaders predicted that the proposed air base near President Truman's home town in Missouri would be approved quickly, clearing the way for House passage of a record $5,768,720,000 military construction program.

I.P.R.—Elizabeth T. Bentley, the first witness to tell Congress about Second World War Communist spy rings in the capital, returned to tell the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee about the Institute of Pacific Relations.

Demonstration Of Fire Bombs For CD Course

Practical demonstration of fighting fire-bombs with a stirrup pump will be given in a specially-built "fire hut" now under construction at the rear of No. 1 fire hall, Victoria civil defense co-ordinator L. G. Hatcher said today.

"The hut will have furniture in it," Mr. Hatcher said, "and will represent a room in a house. Instructors from the civil defense technical training school will demonstrate first, then students of the school will have their turn."

The demonstration will probably take place either Friday or Monday, Mr. Hatcher said.

The provincial government has been requested to start a second technical training course as soon as possible after completion of the current three-week course, now in its second week at the Market Building, Mr. Hatcher said.

Continue Alaska Search For Missing Navy Plane

KODIAK, Alaska (UP)—Rescue planes searched the mist-shrouded "graveyard" of airplanes today for a navy Privateer that disappeared with 12 men aboard.

The four-engine PB4Y-2 was last heard from Sunday and had enough fuel to stay in the air until Monday morning. It was believed to have gone down somewhere among the Aleutian Islands.

Bad weather hampered the search among the overcast islands Monday.

The Privateer was last heard from 285 miles flying west from Kodiak to Adak Island. It carried nine enlisted men and three officers.

Pilots have dubbed this area the "graveyard of airplanes" because 11 planes have met disaster there since December, 1949. A total of 120 persons have been killed or are missing.

Four of the planes, carrying 60 persons, have disappeared in the last three weeks.

On July 21, a Korean-airlift Canadian Pacific airliner vanished with 38 persons aboard.

Just six days later a small plane carrying the wife and daughter of a New Jersey scientist disappeared near Yakutat, Alaska. And on August 4 another small plane carrying seven persons vanished on a 45-mile flight from Mutchalut Arm to Tofino on Vancouver Island.

Canada Faces New Squeeze On Steel

U.S. Edict Strikes Blow At Civilian Production

OTTAWA (CP)—The squeeze on steel likely will get rough within the next few months.

Kenneth Harris, harried steel administrator, says in an interview that the United States is planning to take action to clamp down on exports of "free market" steel.

This will virtually close the door to sources of supply for many Canadian manufacturers of non-essential goods.

Mr. Harris said Canada is getting "fairly good" supplies of

Accidents, Fatalities Up In 1950

B.C. highways saw more accidents in the first five months of the year than in the corresponding period of last year, it is reported from provincial motor vehicle offices.

There were 7,074 to May 31 this year and 6,844 in the same period of 1950.

The number of persons killed and injured this year in traffic accidents were higher also. . . . 59 deaths as compared with 34, 2,048 persons injured as compared with 1,541.

Property damage was correspondingly higher. . . . from $1,299,963 last year to $1,827,336 this year.

Member Of Pioneer City Family Dies

A native son of Victoria and of the pioneer family after which Goodacre Lake in Beacon Hill Park was named, Samuel Skitchley, William Goodacre, died in a downtown hotel Monday at the age of 68.

He was the son of the late Lawrence and Maria Goodacre and is survived by one son, Clarence, believed to be somewhere up the B.C. Coast; four grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. O. W. Pearson and Mrs. F. S. Pope, both of Vancouver.

A private funeral service will be held tomorrow at the Thomson Funeral Home. Interment will be in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Weather Delays Channel Swimmers

CAP GRIS NEZ, France (Reuters).—The international cross-channel swimming race from Cap Gris Nez to Dover, England, today was again postponed for 24 hours following a conference of weather experts.

The swimmers, 13 men and seven women from 10 countries, received the decision with glum faces. Among them was Mrs. Winnie Roach Leuzler, of Toronto.

All were keyed for a start early tomorrow and had been practicing hard. This was the third postponement forced by weather.

Nanaimo Refuses To Remove Gate

NANAIMO—The request of the Nanaimo Fish and Game Protective Association for the removal of the city's gate on the road to the South Forks dam was turned down Monday night by City Council.

Council refused on the grounds that the gate affords protection to the city's watershed. The association charged that although the gate barred people from hunting and fishing, that logging companies operated in the closed area.

Seek Additional Victims In Seattle Plane Crash

Firemen today were sifting through charred rubble of Lester Apartments (left) today for further dead cremated when big bomber struck Seattle building Monday, killing at least 11 and injuring 12 others. Estimates of number dead still in ruins ranged as high as 30. (AP wirephoto.)

Tremendous Confliction Highlighted Colorful Newspaper Career Of Hearst

A man of many facets, crusader, reformer, war-monger, isolationist, a man who was either loved or hated but never ignored, the passing of William Randolph Hearst, publishing tycoon, is the passing of an American legend.

Almost from the time he was temporarily suspended from Harvard University in his senior year for some prank until his death, Randolph Hearst moved in a virtual maelstrom, a vortex of confliction. By some he was regarded as a yellow journalist, by others as a defender of the helpless, by still others a rabble rouser.

Nonetheless, the story of the man is tremendous. He inherited

Special Train Arrangements Completed

Mayor Loran K. Jordon of Port Alberni has promised travelers on the special E. & N. train, Aug. 18, from Victoria to the west coast terminal a good reception. George E. Bonner, Cobble Hill, organizer of the trip for Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association, said today.

Reeve A. I. Thomas, Esquimalt, will carry greetings from Mayor Percy George to Mayor Jordon. Assisting in the welcome will be A. D. Martinich, Port Alberni Rotary Club president, and Frederick W. Chapman, strong supporter of the trip.

Passengers boarding the train at Duncan will be sent on their way by bagpiper Miss Jean W. Taylor. C. F. Findlay, Cobble Hill, will cater on the train.

At a meeting of the ratepayers' association, Ralph Weeliver, vice-president, suggested that the E. & N. run a "picnic" train, similar to the special train, every week-end.

Mounties Will Guard Elizabeth And Philip

OTTAWA (BUP)—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will be flanked by a red-coated bodyguard of 12 Royal Canadian Mounted Policemen but watched over by a less conspicuous guard of several hundred plainclothesmen during their October visit. It was learned today.

An R.C.M.P. spokesman said plans to guard the Royal Couple against possible anti-Royalist and Communist demonstrations had been in the works for several weeks but were not yet completed.

The uniformed Federal policemen with their full-dress tans, red jackets, blue breeches and leather riding boots will provide an outside show of color and the muscle to keep potential mobbers at a distance. But the real work will fall to mounties in mufti, co-operating closely with provincial and city police forces who also will be split into uniformed and plainclothes details—with silent emphasis on undercover work.

It was learned that the R.C.M.P. already had checked on all persons in Canada suspected of having a hostile attitude toward Royalty. The F.B.I. in Washington has done a similar job ready for the time the Princess and Duke visit President Truman.

Provincial and municipal police forces were asked some time ago to give the R.C.M.P. lists of persons who might prove to be trouble-makers.

The completed list was described here as far from long. Quebec Provincial Police, who had several such people card-indexed, submitted only a few names, for instance.

BRIDGE LESSON

by Oswald Jacoby

"Fate punishes me whenever I step out of line," complains a Miami reader. "I know that I didn't have an opening bid with the South hand, but I couldn't resist the 150 honors. Maybe I shouldn't complain, however, because I made a 50-point profit on the hand."

"West opened the queen of hearts, and I played dummy's king. East ruffed, of course, and I later had to lose two diamonds and a club. Maybe North should have bid three no-trump, instead of four spades, but I cannot tell a lie—I'd have bid four spades anyway. Is there any reasonable way of getting to three no-trump with this hand?"

I'm afraid there is no sure way of stopping at three no-trump with this hand. It's easy enough to do so when you can see all the cards, but the chances are that most experts would want to play the hand at spades.

Incidentally, most experts would open the hand with one spade, just as my correspondent did. It may not be a "book" opening bid, but so much the worse for the books. Hence my correspondent can't blame Fate and shouldn't worry about stepping out of line. The truth is that he should have made his contract of four spades.

The correct play is to play a low heart from dummy at the first trick. After all, the bidding warns you that East is likely to be void of hearts. West holds the first trick with his queen of hearts (East cannot gain by ruffing, of course) and continues with the jack of hearts. Once more dummy plays low.

West continues hearts, and this time South can ruff in his own hand. Now declarer draws trumps and enters dummy with a club or a diamond to cash the ace and king of hearts. South discards his two losing diamonds on the top hearts, thus getting back the two tricks he seemed to be giving up. This line of play assures South of six trump tricks, two hearts, one diamond, and one club. Ten tricks, no matter how you count them.

NEW, MIRACLE ELECTRONIC EAR HIDES DEAFNESS

CHICAGO (Special).—An amazing new electronic ear which hides deafness and transmits even whispers with startling clarity, has been revealed by a noted Chicago electronic scientist.

He disclosed that this miraculous new discovery has rendered old-style hearing aids obsolete overnight, and brings new hope to the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing.

He reported that this electronic ear enables the deaf to hear without any button showing in the ear and without dangling battery wires.

To acquaint the hard of hearing readers of this paper with this new miracle electronic ear which hides deafness, full details are described in a fascinating booklet, "New Discoveries to Help the Deaf Hear." It will be sent free in a plain wrapper to anyone who requests it. Address: Electronic Research Director, 1450 West 19th Street, 633A Belmont Building, Chicago 8, Ill. A penny postcard will do.—Advt.

Long Run And Short

IN THE PRESENT WORLD POWER struggle it is usual to measure the potential strength of Russia against the potential strength of the free world. This may be a sound long-run measurement. It is a dangerous measurement in the short run.

The capacity of a united free world to wage war assuredly is much larger than the capacity of Russia. We have an overwhelming preponderance of industrial production which, in the end, must prove decisive. And that, no doubt, is exactly why Russia does not wish to risk a world war. But Russia has a large preponderance of military power already mobilized—probably more than 300 divisions under arms where we have about a dozen, for example, in western Europe.

It is this immediate preponderance that endangers the world's peace. Russia does not desire world war now—or so at least it is generally assumed. But Russia has sufficient surplus power to conduct adventures in many places short, it hopes, of provoking general war. The danger thus is that another Korea may develop at some point where the free world cannot instantly apply resistance, as it was applied in Korea.

If Russia advances at such a point it cannot be halted by local forces, as in Korea, but only by all-out war, by the use of those atomic weapons which threaten the world's destruction.

Thereby hangs the sword of Damocles over the exposed neck of civilization. Having a preponderance of force-in-being, Russia may miscalculate the free world's resistance at some weak spot and provoke the world war which it is anxious to avoid.

For this reason it is by no means safe to measure the future by potential power. By that measurement we are strong. By the measurement of immediate power and immediate danger we are weak and that weakness tempts Russia every day to embark on the fatal gamble.

Hence a truce in Korea, if it caused the free world to slacken its rearmament program, could prove to be a disaster. We can hope to deter Russia from pushing at the weak segments of the perimeter only with armed forces sufficient to fill any vacuum at a moment's notice. Those are the forces we lack now but can hope to have, on the present rearmament schedule, within two years of maximum danger. We can lose everything if, by taking things easy merely because we have won a truce in Korea, we make them years of weakness.

America's Secret

FOR THE LAST THREE YEARS THE United States has been pouring money into Europe under the Marshall Plan. The results, measured by Europe's vastly increased production of goods, have been miraculous. Measured by the improvement in the condition of the average European, the results have been disappointing. Somehow the benefits of increased production and the profits of large corporations have failed to filter down to the ordinary European household, as the Marshall Plan administrators hoped.

What is the trouble? In the opinion of the United States experts, western Europe, though producing more than ever, is still strangled by a system of industrial monopoly, cartels and price rigging, all directed against the consumer. European industry refuses to face the outright competition of the market which is the central motive power of the North American system.

In a new experiment now beginning the Marshall Plan proposes to help the European industrialist who is prepared to compete, to pay as high wages and charge as low prices as he can afford—in short, to make his profit on a small margin with a maximum distribution of goods. The industrialist who introduces better methods of production, who treats his workers well and distributes more of his profits to the consumer in the form of reduced prices will get money, tools and technical advice from the United States.

The Fateful Dates

ONE WOULD NEVER KNOW, FROM the relative attention paid to war's beginning and war's ending, that it is peace, not conflict, that is our chief concern.

Every Canadian can recall the momentous dates and the significant events of the opening of the last two great wars, August 4, 1914, and September 3, 1939, are engraved on the mind of every school child and every adult. We can remember, too, the dates on which actual fighting ceased—the celebrations, the parades, the thanksgivings—although the "false armistice" of 1918 may still confuse some memories.

But the important date—the official end of war with a former enemy country—goes practically unnoticed. This, the date which history will record as the end of hostilities, bringing important changes in the status of enemy aliens and in other technical aspects, is unmarked by the public at the time and unremembered in the future. How many even avid readers of the newspapers know that last July 10 the state of war between Germany and Canada came to an end? Six years of fighting and six years of wary waiting terminated on that day, when the official seal of the Dominion was affixed to a Royal proclamation at Ottawa. How many can recall the corresponding date for the First Great War?

It is buried, like so many important facts, in the mists of time, to be brought out years hence by some historian who did not experience the emotional impact of the first blow and the last blow, but knows only the dry facts of mankind's story, the dull bricks beneath the paint.

Between The Extremes

THE PRACTICAL DIFFICULTIES OF the United States government in the leadership of the free world is vividly illustrated by the recent outburst of Senator Tom Connally against American aid to Asia.

This chairman of the powerful Senate foreign relations committee and a leading spokesman of the government in Congress objects even to a vote of $375 millions for aid to non-communist Asiatic states. He attacks "those fellows chasing out to Asia to support wobbly countries."

Senator Connally would concentrate all American aid in Europe. Thus he goes to the opposite extreme of the MacArthur school, which would concentrate everything in Asia. And between these two extremes, each with powerful support in Congress, the government somehow has to erect a policy which can cover the entire free world, since all of it is in danger.

The government knows that neither Europe nor Asia can be brushed off but it is completely dependent on Congress for the money to aid either of them. The government's total aid plan of $8.5 billions is generous but the proposed vote for Asia errs, if it errs at all, on the small side.

Even that is too much for Senator Connally, a Democrat, while the remainder of the program, to be concentrated in Europe and the Middle East, is too much for Republicans like Senator Taft.

Those who criticize the government's foreign policy should remember the tortuous course by which it must be somehow dragged through Congress, over which the Truman administration has lost all shadow of control.

Labor Under Capitalism

ONE OF THE FAVORITE ILLUSIONS of Communists and Socialists in Europe is that the workers of America are prevented from destroying the free enterprise system only by the superior power of the bosses. At a recent international labor conference in Milan the American delegates set their European colleagues right on this point.

The European Socialists attending the International Conference of Free Trade Unions demanded that it pledge itself to fight for the control of industry by labor. In place of the present management. The American delegates, representing the A.F. of L. and the C.I.O., immediately repudiated any such objective and persuaded the conference to reject the Socialists' proposal. This is what the Americans told the Europeans:

"Capitalism in the United States, with its large-scale production, constant reinvestment in new equipment, relatively low prices for products, substantial taxation, and a special security system maintained by worker and management alike—this kind of capitalism gives American workers a flourishing standard of living with a much narrower gap between employer and employee than exists in Europe."

As George Harrison of the A.F. of L. observed, the American labor unions vigorously demand good wages and working conditions, but they do not want either the unions or the government managing industry. The present system has given them the highest living standard ever known anywhere—incomparably higher than that achieved by any other system—and they propose to improve, not to repeal it.

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

THE OTHER DAY I got the idea I'd like to buy a bull-terrier once more before I die. I need hardly explain I am referring to THE bull-terrier, the English bull-terrier (usually white but sometimes colored), and not to the Boston terrier or any such nonsense. The Boston terrier, by the way, is called simply that by the American Kennel Club, and is not a bull-terrier at all. Also, he has much bulldog blood, which the real bull-terrier has not. The real bull-terrier is a cross between the Dalmatian and the old and now extinct English terrier (a white animal), with a dash of the really old-fashioned bull-terrier of 100 years ago. This latter creature could be almost any size, shape and color, and was a mixture of bulldog, black-and-tan terrier, and a bit of mastiff. He had a square head, quite unlike our own fellow with the Graeco-Roman nose.

INCIDENTALLY, the old white English terrier must be ancestor to a dozen or more of the best-known breeds today, including not only the vast army of terriers proper, but many unlikely breeds as well. I am told, I don't know how reliably, that even the whippet is not simply a greyhound bred small but is a dog with a good deal of old white terrier tempering his greyhound strain.

The change from the old-fashioned bull-terrier to the modern breed was extremely sudden. I don't think there is a parallel in the history of any other breed. The old-fashioned type had been getting along very well in the fighting pits, the place he was bred for, and everyone thought him the most romantic or disgusting dog yet invented, depending on their point of view.

BUT in the 1850's there was a man in Manchester, named James Hinks, who was quietly experimenting with a new, refined and less bull-like bull-terrier. He produced the handsome, clean-cut, light-bred animal we know today. All agreed it was indeed a delightful dog in every way, but said it would stand no chance in a fight with the old savages of the pit. And what use was a bull-terrier outside the pit?

Mr. Hinks thought otherwise, and when a fancier put up a champion killer to expose the new breed, Hinks accepted the challenge at once. Hinks put up a light little bitch named Puss. (Yes, bitches used to fight dogs in the pit, though I don't know how such fights were provoked. I myself have never seen opposite sexes fighting. . . . In the dog world, "I mean.") After a battle which lasted half an hour, Puss killed her rival. Not only that, but she was so fresh and unmarked, she was entered in a show the very next day. The breeders were so impressed, the whole style of bull-terriers changed overnight. Never before or since has a single dog-fight had such an effect.

TODAY, of course, the question of fighting ability doesn't arise. Except to damn the bull-terrier in the eyes of most people, and to perpetuate myths about his ugly nature. Actually, he is a perfect gentleman. . . . that is to say, he is never rude except on purpose, and not often then. With humans he is gentle friendliness itself. And if well trained, he doesn't fight other dogs any oftener than a fox-terrier or Alsatian will, though he does fight them better.

One of my bull-terriers, a bitch, was with me for five or six years, and during that time she got into perhaps five or six piffing scraps, and broke it up when told to. Her only two serious fights were with two cats which ran into her; in each case she got up laughing (being tough), and was only alarmed when she saw I was angry with her for being careless. (Yes, that's right. . . . I was angry with her, not the drivers. The drivers could hardly believe it.) I admit she was death on cats who didn't know her socially, but she left her friends' cats alone, and used to play good tomboy games with our own cat.

WELL, people on the subject of their own dogs can be worse than fond grandmothers, so let us go back to bull-terriers in general. As I told you, I felt a sudden need for another bull-terrier. Or not precisely sudden, for I always need one, but a sudden resolve to go and find one. So I got in touch with three or four people who used to breed or sell them, and I was told that while a few bull-terriers turn up at the bigger shows still, the breed gets less and less popular in these parts. Everyone wanted to locate me a highly pedigreed puppy, descended from 50 champions, preferably 3,000 miles from here, to be bought unsold at a fantastic price. But that isn't quite what I had been thinking of. Conditions aren't what I thought they were. B.C. isn't the place I thought it was, either. To the devil with it. Or to the cocker spaniels with it.

AH YES, and talking of cockers. A dog's nose is supposed to be his most sensitive part, but my bull-terrier Minnie's nose was as tough as the rest of her, and she liked nothing better than a good hard punch on it with your clenched fist. She'd just laugh, and counter-punch with either right or left paw. And what paws! They could break a cat's back and sometimes did, I am sorry to say.

Well, one evening after some years of this sparring, I was playing with a cocker and absent-mindedly hauled off and gave him a sharp right jab, bang on the boko. He very naturally screamed, and I felt dreadfully ashamed and apologetic. But the owner didn't feel apologetic and tried to overcome my embarrassment. No. He was too busy overcoming his urge to knock my own nose off. My hat was on the floor and I wanted to pick it up and run. But I was afraid that if I bent over to pick it up, he'd kick me. I've never liked cockers since. Nor they me.

GALSWORTHY

TODAY is the 94th birthday of John Galsworthy, only he's been dead for nearly 20 years. Humbert Wolfe wrote his epitaph, with his tongue half in his cheek:

Ash to ash, to earth the earthy
Was not spoken of Galsworthy.
Like his books the soul of John Goes marching on . . . and on . . . and on.

Don't Fall For His Act

As Our Readers See It

HOSPITAL INSURANCE

While the subject of hospital insurance is before the public eye, I would like the public to be enlightened on the true facts—that their increased hospital premiums definitely are not due to raises in the average hospital employee's wages.

It seems many people have the idea the increases go toward labor costs, but this is not so. They are poorly enough paid and have had no wage hike or cost of living bonus since November, 1950, and then what they received was insignificant.

The publicity the Government puts out regarding hospital labor costs is more likely for high executives and officials investigating same. The employees have the privilege of going out on strike but because of their better judgment in realizing the importance of their jobs they stick by it. Apparently this is taken advantage of.

The employees go on hoping that the broken promises of more wages to meet the high cost of living will one day materialize. Incidentally, all the hospital employees pay hospital insurance premiums, amounting to a total of roughly $1,500 every month. FAIR PLAY.

MERCY MEAT

If a rose, by any other name would smell as sweet, horse meat by another name—mercy meat, for instance—would taste the same! And can we take exception to horse flesh as such and continue to go on eating the flesh of other domestic stock with an equanimity that is nothing short of astounding?

Victoria so far appears to have escaped a practise more or less common in certain other countries, and yet there are those who, when faced with the sale of horse meat, resent its introduction upon the counter. Here we have an example of human nature up in arms!

There are any number of animals which we kill and prepare for our table without blinking an eyelash, but somehow a horse is different. Horses we like to think are raised for work, possibly racing and certainly not for eating. . . . Our mercy, under the circumstances, may be somewhat strained in character. To eat or not to eat a horse becomes the question of the hour!

I admit we are on the horns of a dilemma and our love is for an animal which down the centuries has acted as our best-known beast of burden. Yet the poor we have with us always.

Inflation invites strange bed-fellows, and the high cost of beef is a sight marvelous to behold. People have been strap-hanging on rising prices for so long, the meat of their old friend and companion, the horse, no longer finds buyer resistance what it used to be. A steak's a steak, and hungry mouths must be fed at proportionate cost!

My sympathy is for the horse, together with those who will be called upon to sacrifice their scruples on the high altar of divided allegiance.

PETAINE'S REWARD

Your correspondent A. J. Claudet does not seem to appreciate the miraculous intervention of God at Dunkirk where He saved the remnant of the British army which became the nucleus of the vast Allied armies of liberation that delivered the French and the Belgians, and all the other Nazi and Fascist-oppressed peoples of the world!

Had Fascist Weygand obeyed the orders of President Lebrun, which orders General de Gaulle communicated to him, and instead of listening to Fascist Petain, he had landed a French army 500,000 strong in North Africa, the war would then have been appreciably shortened, and it would have kept all these men out of the German slave-labor camps!

That Churchill and Stalin, those two great Allied leaders, were seen together during the war, was only natural; but that Petain and Hitler, two leaders in opposite camps, should have been seen together meant nothing less than high treason!

LONG WAY ROUND

My son Jacky, born in London, England, left there four years ago at the age of nine, to live in Canada; listened to the itinerary of the royal tour, on the radio. His face beamed when he heard Victoria mentioned.

"Goody, goody," he remarked, "now I shall really be able to see the Princess." E. MCCABE.

Under Our Roof

By JOHN RHODES STURDY

TODAY was the fatal day that the steam vessel bearing Hamish, the janitor's assistant in my old apartment house Back East, Col. S. Skeffington-Smuts (Ret.) and Anastasia Wiggs-Wiggs, was to have cast off her moorings—reluctantly, I hoped—and set a course for our island.

Eight a.m. was the clearance time, and by nine o'clock, although my wife and I had our ears glued to the radio, there had been no report of any major marine disaster.

At 10 o'clock the ship radioed her estimated time of arrival at the island as 2.30 p.m.

"Well," I said, "it's small consolation, but at least we can eat supper in peace." "Supper?" my wife said. "The ship gets here at 2.30."

The ship estimates she will get here at 2.30. I corrected. "You've lived on this island long enough to know that an estimated time of arrival doesn't fool anybody, not even the local seagulls. They'll be at the wharf at six o'clock for their supper."

At 11 a.m., the telephone rang. My wife answered it, naturally, and came running to tell me that Vancouver was on the line. She forced me to take up the receiver and when I said, "hello?" a voice came back to me over the instrument that made my heart jump.

"Hamish!" I shouted gleefully. "You didn't make the ship!"

"I regret to say, no," replied Hamish, rather coolly. "The Colonel and I are still in Vancouver, owing to a very unfortunate circumstance. Has the ship arrived at your island?"

"No."

"Then would you mind, when she does arrive, checking with the freight department?"

Workings Of The Soviet Mind

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP
from Washington

THERE is a key to the mind of Joseph Stalin. For, if the past is any guide to the present and future, the voluminous writings of Stalin and his predecessor Lenin reflect the motives and intentions of Stalin quite as accurately as "Mein Kampf" did in Hitler's case. In the following imaginary address by Stalin to the Politburo, the words in single quotes are Stalin's own words, or the words of Lenin quoted with approval by Stalin.

"Comrades. It has been whispered that the war in Korea was an error. This is counter-revolutionary infantism. It is true that it has been necessary to liquidate those enemies of the people, the agents who reported that the American imperialists would not strongly react. Yet these are the checks which we must expect in the world-wide war in which we are engaged, a war which is 100 times more difficult, prolonged, and complicated than the most stubborn of ordinary wars between states."

"Now, however, the time has come to reconsider our situation. We must remember that we live at all times but a hair's breadth from intervention by the imperialists. We of course know that 'it is inconceivable that the Soviet Republic should continue to exist for a long period side by side with the imperialist states. Ultimately one or the other must conquer.'"

"The imperialists are now preparing a predatory alliance, led by the United States. As is well known, when it becomes sufficiently strong, this predatory alliance will fly at the throat of the first Socialist state. In this situation, our aims are clear. Our ultimate aim must be, as always, 'all power to the Soviets.' But first, 'the defense of the Soviet Union' must be considered paramount—at any price, the victory of the Red army over the armies of the imperialists must be assured."

"This can be assured in only one way, by breaking up the imperialist alliance. But in order to do this, we must make a choice. For this is a time when history confronts us with the necessity of deciding whether to take the direct or zig-zag path."

"The nature of 'the direct path,' the path of 'the direct frontal attack,' is clear. One way to take the direct path, for example, would be to order now the liquidation of the fascist mercenary Tito by the armies of the peace-loving People's Democracies, Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria. If brought to a successful conclusion, such a 'direct frontal attack' will cause the imperialist predatory alliance to disintegrate."

"Yet the danger here is evident. As is well known, the liberation of Yugoslavia, or other direct action, might cause the American ruling clique to unleash a new war. 'One can succeed by the direct frontal attack' only 'when one enjoys an overwhelming superiority of force.' We must carefully consider whether we now enjoy that superiority. 'We must ask ourselves whether for a time it will not be well to take 'the zig-zag path.'"

"The way of 'the zig-zag path' is also clear. First, it will be necessary to liquidate the war in Korea. We must then greatly strengthen the peace offensive. Finally, we must by every means exacerbate the ruling cliques of powers in the imperialist camp."

"That Stalin and the men in the Kremlin are thinking in some such way is as sure as that the leopard has spots. The outcome of the truce talks in Korea should provide solid evidence whether the Kremlin is to take the direct path—which will almost surely lead to war—or the zig-zag path—which may lead to a precarious, but lasting state of not-war-not-peace."

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

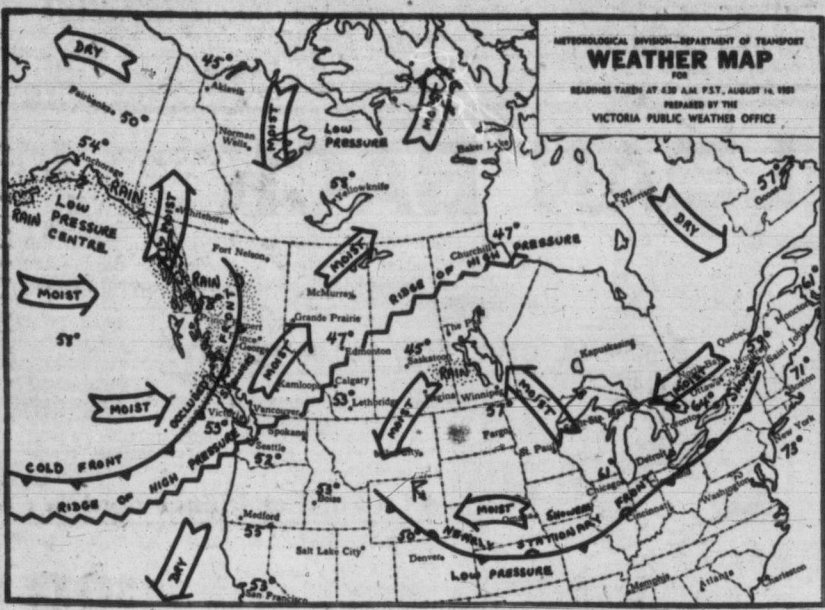

"VAUDEVILLE," said the Elevator Man, "used to be the major source of corny humor. But radio and the wonders of science brought corn into our homes. Now you can hear it any time of the day or night—the loudest, funniest corn in the world, although television is making a strong bid for the market. But now a fella pops up and says he's heard corn—real corn—growing in Wisconsin."

It seems he was going down a quiet country road one night and heard a mysterious crackling and snapping from the fields alongside. He got tape recordings made of it, and he swears it's the sound of corn growing. That'll be a pleasant change from the radio type, which is mainly the sound of corn dying. But walking through a corn field now will be quite an experience, with the corn crackling in your face and snapping at your heels. Lower main!

"It seems to me," said the Elevator Man, "we're overdoing this eavesdropping on nature. First it was birds, with people hiding behind bushes to listen in on private conversations among the robins and such. We'd been spying on animals, of course, for years. We're just as rude to them as we are to our fellow humans. Then, believe it or not, we started listening to fish. Fella took microphones down underwater and recorded every gasp and bubble, and even a few side comments that only a fish should hear. But now that our big ears are hanging out in the corn patch, no part of nature will be safe. Though I guess it was sporting to pick on the one vegetable that has ears to retaliate with. Going down!"

"I guess," said the Elevator Man, "the catch in all this eavesdropping will be that we won't hear anything we don't already know. That way it'll be just like listening to other human beings. Because, as you know, nine-tenths of what you hear from people you've already heard from somebody else. Listening attentively to it doesn't teach you much—but it sure makes you popular."

More Immigrants In First Six Months Than Whole Of Last Year

OTTAWA (CP)—More immigrants have come to Canada during the first six months of 1951 than entered this country during the whole of last year, the immigration department announced today.

Almost 80,000 immigrants arrived during the first six months, compared with last year's 12-month total of 74,000.

With a spectacular climb in the number of British settlers, immigration in the six-month period rolled to 79,785—more than double the 37,286 in the six-month period of 1950.

British contributed 14,130—110 per cent greater than the 6,738 in the same period a year ago. English immigrants totaled 8,604, double last year's 4,354; Irish, 1,153, compared with 721; Scottish, 4,100, almost triple last year's 1,550, and Welsh, 273, compared with 113.

Immigrants from northern Europe swelled to 27,427, almost tripling last year's 9,751. A total of 2,272 came from France, quadrupling last year's 502.

The Netherlands placed 11,297 in Canada, more than double last year's 5,306. Immigrants from West Germany totaled more than 8,000, a big gain from last year's 2,000.

Races other than those from northern Europe totaled 34,540, about double the 17,553 in the six months of 1950.

Even United States immigration was higher. The six-month total came to 3,688, up from 3,244.

Communist countries made their contributions, too. Russians entering Canada totaled 686, up from last year's 287; Czechoslovakians, 1,642, triple last year's 552; Romanians, 410, compared with 173; Yugoslavians, 1,589, compared with 466.

Of the total 79,785, adult males totaled 37,472; adult females, 22,183; children under 18 years, 20,130.

HOME GARDEN

by Jack Beasall

Some day I hope to find time to make a complete garden of bulbous plants which will have bloom in every month of the year.

While it may be difficult, it is not impossible, especially when we include the true bulbs, the crocuses, and those plants having thickened rootstocks.

Starting now, the first blooms would be the Autumn Crocus and the Colchicum, followed by the many winter flowering subjects including Snowdrops, Winter Crocus, Winter Aconite, and into the early spring with Crocus, Scilla and so forth.

Narcissi would be followed by Tulips and Hyacinths, and then would come the Muscari, Iris, Lilies and Gladioli. Also through the summer months there would be Ranunculus, Fritillaries, Penicillia, Galtonia, tuberous Begonias, hardy Cyclamens, Sparaxis, Alliums, Tigridia, Ornithogalum, Eremuri, Montbretia, Schizostylis, Chionodoxa, the various bulbous Iris, and many more which are quite easy to grow in our climate.

Since such a garden is not a reality we must come back to facts and do something about the bulbous plants we already have.

The first among these to receive attention are the easily-grown, stately Madonna Lilies, Lilium candidum, for only during their dormant period in August should they be lifted and separated. Also, this is the only time that new stock is available from nurseries and stores.

Lilium candidum is one of the few base-rooting lilies and therefore the bulbs should not be covered with more than two inches of soil. As with all lilies, they must have a well-drained, lime-free position in full sun.

Burp Battle Waged By General Staff

LONDON (CP)—The "battle of the burp" is on.

Norman R. Duncan, general manager of the Tomato and Cucumber Marketing Board, has told his staff: "Many people like cucumber. Our job is to try to help them make the most of what they like without unpleasant after-effects."

The staff now is searching old menus hoping to find effective ways of minimizing the number of "excuse me's" after eating cucumber.

He said they would make it possible to build a steel mill on the coast near Acapulco.

Rotation Plan Based On Time Spent In Korea

Canadians Face Extended Service

OTTAWA (CP)—The way things look now, a fair number of Canadian soldiers, quite possibly running into the thousands, are likely to find themselves still serving in Korea after their 18-month term of special force service is finished.

The reason is that the army's rotation plan is to be based primarily on time spent in that theatre rather than on the 18-month terms, the basis of special force enlistments in the summer of 1950.

No special effort to get men home ahead of the 18-month deadline apparently is envisaged now.

No official figures have been made public but it is believed roughly half the special force men—that is around 4,000 to 4,500—have indicated they would like their discharge at the end of that term.

Thousands are in Korea with the 25th Brigade—the special force's operational name—serving beside pre-Korea regulars and other special force men who have elected to join the regular army.

DETAILS SOON

Only broad outlines of the rotation plan have been announced but details are expected in a day or so.

The broad aim, as stated by Defense Minister Claxton, is that the army hopes—military circumstances permitting—that no soldier will spend more than one winter and much less than one year in Korea.

First objective is to have original men of the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, who landed in Korea last December, home by Christmas.

Men of other units could expect to spend the coming winter there—unless an armistice works inevitable changes—because they didn't reach there until May. Those units include many special force men who have not yielded to the army's campaign to get them to sign on for a regular three-year hitch.

For the bulk of them, February will be the end of the 18 months since the bulk of the special force was enlisted in the last three weeks of August, 1950. The rotation plan, as it now shapes up, indicates that many of them will still be there after February because they would still be three months short of a year's service.

Accepted For P.N.E. Photographic Salon

"Three of a Kind," by Evelyn Burt-Smith, 1379 Hampshire Road, was one of a highly selected group of prints chosen by judges for hanging in the Photographic Salon of the Pacific National Exhibition.

soon to be held in Vancouver. The study has been hung in six salons this year, including the 17th International Salon at New York and the Philadelphia International Exhibition of Photography.

Photographic Prints Hung In PNE Salon

Standards of excellence reached by city photographers was reflected this week in the acceptance by the Pacific National Exhibition board of judges of the work of three Victorians for hanging in the highly-selective P.N.E. salon.

Among those whose work will be shown in Vancouver are Evelyn Burt-Smith of Oak Bay with two prints, "Snow-Bound" and "Three of a Kind."

Helmuth Goertz is represented by "Big Sister," a sympathetic study of the photographer's two children Anita and Rickie. The photo was awarded "print of the year" at the Canadian Salon of Photography, Hamilton, Ont.

"The Critic," intriguing study of a cat, is the work of James A. McVie, who also had his "Storehouse Interlude" accepted. The 25th time this print has been hung in a salon.

Landing Saves 12,000

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A plane with one of its two engines in flames made a forced landing Monday, saving 12,000 lives. The pilot, Philip Roshong, of New Albany, Ind., said he decided to bring the plane in rather than parachute. His passengers were 12,000 baby chicks.

Rumor British Election Set Back Until Spring

Tories Wary Labor Party May Pull Surprise Appeal To Electorate

LONDON (CP)—Before Parliament adjourned earlier this month for the summer recess political observers insisted that an autumn general election was almost a certainty. Now they are speculating the date may be deferred until some time between February and June next year.

Several factors have influenced this change of mind, but mainly a statement by J. Chuter Ede, leader of the House of Commons, that parliament will definitely meet again to prorogue before dissolution.

"But don't take that as a prophecy," he told members. He added it was the intention of the government to reconvene the House Oct. 16 and to ask the King to open a new session, the third of the present session, Oct. 23.

The opposition accepted the statement with undisguised skepticism and the Conservatives, at least, are gearing their election machinery for any eventuality.

FREE-ELECTION SIGNS

The Tories are convinced the Labor party hierarchy has been quietly laying the groundwork for an early appeal to the country by offering pre-election "sops" and encouraging whispering campaigns.

In support of this view they point to recent measures introduced by the government to tighten price controls, increase certain rationed commodities, such as meat, lifting of the ban on industrial strikes and the proposed three-year "freeze" of investment dividends.

Provincial observers predict Labor strategists will seek to postpone the election date until its leaders are in a position to appeal to the country with some spectacular issue of principle. Some say this may take the form of a special levy on capital, along the lines of the tax imposed in 1948 by Sir Stafford Cripps, then Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Similarly, Tory spokesmen are speculating that Labor may even attempt to build up the dividend freeze into a "soak-the-rich" showdown as part of general tactics to pin on the Conservative party the label of privilege and wealth.

Behind these possibilities loomed the persistent whisper that the Tories, inspired by Winston Churchill, were pursuing a war-mongering policy and if returned to power would precipitate the country into another war.

Recent public opinion polls have rectified a slight setback in the Conservative lead over Labor. But political analysts say that if a general election were held now, the Conservatives would be returned with a majority of from 100 to 150.

ROCKS SIGN HENDERSON FOR PLAYOFF DRIVE

Manager Ralph Baker disclosed today that Wally Henderson, captain of last year's North Shore Indians, has signed to play for Victoria Shamrocks.

Henderson has been refereeing on the mainland this season but has not played any lacrosse. He will likely be used in the rover spot, alternating with John Newton, a senior B player who will be brought up for limited service with the Irish.

FELLER WINS 19TH

Tribe Rolls On As Yanks Fail

Cleveland's onrushing Indians continue to whiz by all opposition as the "Lopez Limited" speeds steadily toward its destination—Pennantville.

No wonder the Indians, led by manager Al Lopez, are talking pennant today. The tribe won again last night, defeating Detroit 2-1. The victory increased their first-place margin over New York Yankees to two and a half games as Philadelphia shelacked the Yanks for the third straight time 16-8.

It stretched the Tribe's winning streak to 11 straight, only two short of the club's all-time record of 13 accomplished in 1942.

It marked the 19th triumph for Bob Feller, who celebrated a "night" in his honor by limiting the Tigers to seven hits.

It was the eighth consecutive complete job by a Cleveland hurler and it was the 12th straight game the Indians held their opposition to four runs or less.

A homer by Al Rosen—his 20th—proved the difference last night. It came in the fourth inning and snapped a scoreless duel between Feller and Marlin Stutzman.

Philadelphia raked four New York chucks for 18 hits—its season high—and scored in all but the first and eighth innings. Catcher Joe Tipton got four hits and drove in three runs. Elmer Vro also made four hits and drove in two. Morrie Martin won his seventh game.

NO. 33 FOR GIL

A three-run homer by Gil Hodges in the eighth inning gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 7-6 victory over Boston Braves and left their 12½ game first-place margin intact. The runner-up New York Giants won their third straight from Philadelphia Phils 5-2.

Cincinnati swept a double-header from Pittsburgh, 2-0 and 7-1, while Chicago Cubs upset St. Louis Cardinals 6-3.

Hodges' homer was his 33rd of the season and the 100th of his big league career.

BAMFORD LEAGUE LEADER

Foul Bay Snipers Top Boxla Scoring Figures

With Senior B League lacrosse teams playing an unbalanced schedule, Bill Bamford of Foul Bay emerged as this year's scoring leader.

Foul Bay and Jokers played 11 games each while Navy and Tillicums both played one less. Bamford, one of the most stylish players in the league, edged out three of his mates to take the scoring crown with 13 goals.

Hamilton Shot Takes Feature Rifle Match

CONNAUGHT RANGES, SOUTH MARCH, Ont. (CP)—A 38-year-old Royal Hamilton Light Infantry marksman yesterday beat out 12 other veteran riflemen to win the Connaught match at the opening day of the 83rd annual Dominion of Canada Rifle Association shoot.

Sgt. G. B. Kay, three times a member of the Canadian Biscuit team, had to work hard for his win. He fired 16 bull-eyes from 500 yards before he bested Maj. Desmond Burke of Toronto and Ottawa, a former King's prize winner.

Thirteen riflemen finished the match with possible 50's, but in the shoot-off Kay and Burke went out in front.

The pair matched bull-eyes for 15 shots before Maj. Burke dropped to an inner on his 16th try.

C.S.M. N. L. Beckett, also of the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry, won the shoot-off in the Tilton event.

J. C. Davis of Windsor, N.S., won the shoot-off in the tyro match.

A'S GET TWO CATCHERS; DEAL FOR PITCHER OFF

General manager Reg. Patterson of the A's announced late last night that catcher Rocco Cardinale, purchased from Stockton of the California State League, would be in Wenatchee for tonight's W.I.L. game with the Chiefs.

Cardinale was scheduled to arrive in Spokane at 4:30. The A's were chartering a special plane to fly him to Wenatchee in time for the game.

Cardinale's presence is needed as the A's one and only catcher, Milt Martin, is out of action for a week with a sprained shoulder.

Jack Reddick, a rookie catcher, is also on his way to join the club.

Hopes of obtaining pitcher Jerry Barta from Vancouver were dashed when general manager Bob Brown turned down the deal.

Not Wedding Boots—Golfing Shoes

Old shoes are usually associated with a wedding, but as far as is known Bea Ashdown, secretary of Colwood Golf Club, is still unspoken for even though she appears to be taking more than ordinary interest in the pile of golf shoes at her feet. The occasion was moving day at Colwood Golf Club as lockers and other equipment were being moved from the old clubhouse to the new building which will be officially opened later this week. Actually the shoes are worn out, but judging from Colwood's representative it wouldn't be hard to make a sale if any golfers are interested.

Caps Steal His Pants, But Al Shows His Grit

By BILL WALKER

This isn't the story of last night's Western International League baseball game at Athletic Park.

Three thousand appreciative fans attending on the occasion of "Fan Appreciation Night" can testify that the Vancouver Caps knocked over the Athletics 6-4, even though manager Bill Schuster, who was later ejected, played the game under protest from the third inning.

Any student of baseball will provide the information that the defeat set the Vics five full games (eight on the losing side) behind the fourth-place Wenatchee Chiefs, whom they meet tonight in the first of a three-game series at Wenatchee.

And this is not going to be a detailed account of how the Caps took a three-run lead in the fourth inning off John Tierney, added a pair in the seventh on John Ritchey's home run and picked up their final tally in the eighth off reliever Phil Prior.

Or how the A's gave those 3,000 fans a thrill right down to the final out by getting to Bob Snyder, who notched his 22nd win, for two runs in the eighth, and giving the league's winningest pitcher a terrific scare with two more runs in the ninth before Hal Jackson grounded out with the tying runs on base.

HE FILLED THE BILL. But rather it's a story about Al Kubasek.

Kubasek is a chap who plays ball for the Eagles, Victoria's lone amateur team.

He was virtually unknown until Saturday night when he was pressed into the breach in the place of catcher Milt Martin who was rendered "hors de combat" by Bob McGuire's football block in the afternoon game of the double bill.

THE ROAD WAS ROUGH. Even after that game some of the fans thought he was the A's new catcher, and though they tendered him the usual fine reception, were a little rough on the Navy lad when the Caps stole six bases.

Then his identity was revealed. And with the revelation came the announcement that Martin would be back in action last night.

But Martin couldn't make it. The club doctor had ordered him to play no baseball for a week, otherwise he might suffer permanent injury to his shoulder.

Out went the call for Kubasek again. And last night the squat five-by-five receiver took his place behind the plate for his second professional appearance.

This time the crowd gave an even better reception. They understood the problems he was facing.

Bays Pull This One Out In Extra Frame

Down Jokers To Take Lead In Cup Final

That old last minute drive that made Foul Bay champions of the Senior B Lacrosse League did it again last night as the Bays pulled up their socks in time to nip Jokers 14-11 in overtime and take a one-game lead in the city finals.

A large and vociferous crowd turned out to the game—perhaps seeking some of the bloodshed that occurred in the semifinal round. If that's what they came for, they went home fully satisfied as both clubs carried their sticks high, their fists at slugging level and their tempers in their muscles.

While the players were drawing beads on each other the fans were directing their venom towards referee Tom McKeachie. The official handed out a total of 53 minutes and 22 seconds in penalties and generally spent an uncomfortable evening.

GOALIES HOT

The game itself, ignoring the extra-curricular activities, produced flashes of the best lacrosse seen in the league this year. Consistently sterling and sometimes unbelievable was the work of Aln Thompson and Jim Hetherington, goalies of Foul Bay and Jokers respectively.

Foul Bay poured four goals past Hetherington in the first period while Stan Gallop notched the only Joker goal of the frame.

The clubs split four goals in the second period to leave the half-time score at 6-3 for Foul Bay. With Bob Seans shouldering most of the load, Jokers notched three straight goals in the third to square matters.

Norm Kowalyk counted on a free shot for Bays after being pulled down from behind by Jokers' Andy Hebertson. Moose Johnson and Elmer Mathews received the gate for fighting and while they were out, both clubs scored one goal.

Ray Douglas scored on a pass from Bob McConchy to open the third period, tying the game once again. After Johnson, Kowalyk and Hebertson received minor penalties for roughing on the boards, Douglas scored again to give Jokers the lead for the first time in the game.

LATE GOAL TIES. Jokers tried to freeze the ball for the last two minutes of the game but reliable Bill Bamford tied the count on a long shot with 40 seconds left. Concurrent with this goal, Hebertson and Tom Joyce engaged in a wild fistful duel on the boards.

Hebertson showed no desire to leave the fight and received 10 minutes in the box to Joyce's five. Bamford drew two minutes for interference.

Cliff Scroggie put Jokers one up in the overtime frame, battling in Andy Brown's rebound. That was it for Jokers. Foul Bay put on a dazzling burst to score five extra-period goals as the Joker defense fell to pieces.

The second game of the best-of-five series will be on Thursday at the Arena, starting at 8:30.

SOCCER MEETING. The Britannia soccer club will hold a business meeting at 723 Cormorant Street tomorrow night at 7. All members of last year's club and others interested are asked to attend.

Kiwanian Golf Match. Oak Bay and Victoria Kiwanis Clubs will meet at the Uplands Golf Club on Thursday for the Ab Humphries trophy. Starting times for the matches will be from 1 to 2.

WHALEY, EISENHOWER TIE

Visitors Dominate Qualifying Round

American entrants dominated the championship flight of match play today as yesterday's medal qualifying round panned the starting field down to 16 qualifiers in the 29th annual Seniors' Northwest Golf Association tournament at Victoria Golf Club.

Of the 16 divoters that teed off this morning in the championship flight, 13 were Americans and three Canadians. Ralph Whaley of Seattle, who has won the title seven times in the last eight years, including the last two years, tied for medalist honors with Ed Eisenhower of Tacoma.

Roy Campbell of Seattle was runner-up, netting a 73 for second spot.

H. O. English was the top local qualifier with a 77 to tie with A. S. G. Musgrave and R. C. Milroy of Vancouver.

HOLDS 10-POINT LEAD

Browning Eyes Scoring Title

If anyone in the Intercity Lacrosse League intends to overhaul Shamrocks' Archie Browning in the individual scoring race such an individual will have to hurry.

Browning currently is sitting on the top rung of the ladder with 83 points. Whitey Severson, with 78 points, was a threat to Browning but was put out of action by a broken foot. He is not expected to play again this season.

Browning has three games left in which to increase his lead. His closest opponent, discounting Severson, is Alfie Wood, of New Westminster, with 73 points.

Wood was second in the scoring race last year with 91 points as a member of the Salmonbellies. Jackie Northup, also of New Westminster, won the crown last year with 95 points. He is in sixth spot this season.

TWO GAMES TO PLAY
Both Wood and Northup have two games left in which to catch Browning.

Bill Andrews is maintaining his steady goal tending mark of .73. Indians' Stan Joseph is runner-up. Scoring statistics follow:

But What About The Next One?

Coach of Foul Bay's lacrosse team, Dick Chunggranes points to the number 12 on Mel Davidson's jersey, indicating the number of games that Bays have won without a loss. Looking on are Bill Bamford, second from left, league scoring champ this season, and goalie Al Thompson. Thompson looks worried as he recalls that after 12 comes 13, a number that athletes do not care to speak about. Foul Bay won game number 12 last night by edging Jokers 14-11 in first game of finals for city championship. Second game of the series will be played Thursday night at Memorial Arena.

Gasmen Close To Clinching Berth

Pitzer & Nex moved a step closer to a berth in the finals of the Senior A. Men's Softball League last night by picking up their second straight win from Chinese Students 3-1. Gasmen now hold a 2-0 lead in their best-of-five series. The third game is slated for Thursday night at 6.30.

Both teams played to the hilt last night and the issue was all ways in doubt right up until the final out. Cy Guest and Charlie McKay matched pitch for pitch, although McKay gave up nine hits to Guest's five.

P. AND N. OPEN SCORING

After a scoreless four innings of play the winners opened the scoring in the top of the fifth with two out. Don Robinson, Student's shortstop, charged a ground ball hit by Bill Reynolds and failed to make the pick-up, allowing Reynolds to reach first. A passed ball moved him to second when Toad Garnet walked. Vic Dale drove a line drive single to centre, scoring Reynolds.

Students tied it up in the bottom of the sixth when Eddie Dorohoy scored on Jimmy John's single to left. The Students lost a great chance to take the lead when Gordy Chow held third on John's smash and the relay in to home bounced around the screen before it was retrieved.

In the top of the seventh Bernie Clarkson dropped in a double behind the infield. Reynolds beat out an infield hit to first, moving Clarkson along to third. Clarkson came home on Garnet's fly out to right.

SCORE ON ERROR

The final run of the game was marked up in the ninth when Dorohoy was bowled over at first after Robinson almost completed a double play on a ground ball by Vic Dale. Dorohoy picked himself up and threw the ball into the crowd down the left field line in an attempt to get

TED PARKINS NAMED TO TEST SIDE

Ted Parkins, starry wicket-keeper, bowler and batter of Oak Bay cricket team, has been appointed to the All-Canada team which will play Marylebone in a test match in Vancouver.

Other members of the team are Basil Robinson, Ottawa, who will captain the team; Tom Brierley, Bill Hendy, Robin Johnston, Stan Hansen and George Nugent, all of Vancouver; Allan Percival, B. Christen and N. Rilton of Ontario; Peter Cullimore and Aubrey Edwards of Alberta.

I.B.C. Accused Of Exercising Boxing Monopoly

Congressional Probe Requested

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators Herman Welker (Rep., Ida.) and Harry Cain (Rep., Wash.) asked Congress Monday to inquire into possible monopoly in professional boxing.

They singled out the International Boxing Club in particular.

"It goes without saying," Welker said to the Senate, "and I think it is common knowledge that the International Boxing Club is a closed corporation which governs and controls the professional boxing business in most every major city in the United States."

The boxing inquiry was asked close on the heels of a move by Senator William Benton (Dem., Conn.) and J. W. Fulbright (Dem., Ark.) to abolish intercollegiate football in service institutions. That was tied to a cheating scandal at West Point.

Both senators said in explanation of the joint resolution they introduced that boxers who are not in the International Boxing Club fail to get a crack at big-time fights.

MATTHEWS CASE CITED

They mentioned Harry Matthews, Seattle light-heavyweight, as an example, and added that others could be named.

Welker said that Matthews decisively defeated Irish Bob Murphy in New York last March but since then has been shunted to small-time fights. On the other hand, he said, Murphy is being given a chance at the light-heavyweight title.

Cain was critical of Mike Jacobs, New York fight promoter. He said Jacobs insisted on getting part of Joe Louis' cut in a wartime charity fight with Billy Conn. Jacobs claimed Louis owed him the money, Cain said.

Pee-wees In Boxla Prelim

Tigers will play Stubbs in a pee-wee division lacrosse game as preliminary to the Shamrock-Combines intercity match at the Memorial Arena tomorrow night at 7.15.

The following players are requested to report to the arena at 6.30:
Tigers—Pint, Craigdale, Gairbairn, O'Hare, Waters, Stewart, Sillings, Galt, East, Chilli, Wainwright, O'Connell, Moss, Wormald, Peterson.
Stubbs—Vance, Curtis, Watson, Johnson, Shivers, Barker, A. Haydon, De Rayson, Caldwell, Randall, Westcott, Robinson, Hodgkinson, Thompson, Birkenhead, Landsale, Nelson, Bourke.

Bombers Take B.C. Crown

Shawnigan-Mill Bay midget softball team, Grey Bombers, won the second game of the provincial championships over the weekend by defeating New Westminster Phalanx by the lopsided score of 40-6 to give Bombers the provincial crown.

Fuelmen Gain City Knockout Finals

Island Fuel reached the city knockout softball semifinals last night when they defeated Sidney Roofing 14-9 at Macdonald Park. The last club to get a semifinal berth will be decided to-night at Bullen Park when West Heat plays 119 Battery at 6.30.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor.

It has come to our attention, either by design or otherwise, that a number of the Shamrocks picked to play on the Island all-star team against the mainland counterpart in next Monday's benefit in aid of the Intercity Lacrosse injured players' fund, have quite openly expressed an inclination to boycott the contest.

They feel—and in this sense we hold nothing against them—that since they've come this far in quest of the Intercity Lacrosse League championship with the prized Mann Cup as the rainbow's pot of gold, that there's no use getting hurt unnecessarily in an exhibition game, so why play.

This is a noble and admirable move indeed, for it is quite possible that someone may suffer an injury in this game which may prove harmful to the Shamrocks' chances in the forthcoming league playoffs. And this is especially so as the playoffs follow so closely on the heels of the benefit performance. The point being, if you're not familiar with injuries to athletes, that time is the all-important factor in the treatment of such injuries. A team could be considerably weakened by the loss of just one player for one game. And that game may be the key game of the series.

"Why take unnecessary risks" is the Shamrocks' reasoning.

It is rather superfluous to state that all players are taking the same risk, and any of the mainland teams could suffer such a setback in a like manner. But so far we've heard little complaining from across the straits, though undoubtedly this is because of the distance involved. Naturally, the same thought must be running through the battle-tested minds of coaches Bill Dickinson, Ralph Douglas and Johnny Cavallin. All three figures, rightly or wrongly, it matters not, feel that they have the club to beat the Shamrocks who, incidentally, are the club to beat.

However, one point that has been overlooked in all this business about an all-star game is that ALL the clubs agreed to the proposal at the beginning of the season. And ALL reiterated their stand only recently, with the Shamrocks reluctantly siding in with the plan.

Let's Decide Once And For All

Now, either this game is going to be played with the stars of the cast (mainland clubs included) performing in their accustomed roles or it isn't going to be played. That matter should be decided once and for all before next Monday.

The paying public is deluded often enough (this doesn't apply to lacrosse as played by the Shamrocks) without having to fork out extra cash to see two makeshift teams taking the floor just for the sake of seeing the game go on as scheduled.

There is probably a good need for a benefit such as this (note that we didn't say game) and the Shamrocks should be among the first to recognize the fact, the Whitey Severson case being an excellent example.

And frankly, there should be a more suitable method of raising such funds, preferably by a percentage being taken out of the gate of each game during the season, the total sum being comparable to the net profit that a capacity house at Memorial would provide.

That may come, but it doesn't alter the fact that the representatives of the five teams agreed to play this game and also agreed to use the players picked for all-star recognition.

Victorians will support the cause, we're sure of that. They've always supported benefits in other sports. But they want the assurance that they will see the best. The game is billed as an all-star affair. Let it be that, or not at all.

(P.S.—We don't think for a moment that the Rocks will carry out their boycott, even though it means playing three games in that week, the third being a playoff contest. This game will be played at home, an honor the Rocks earned by winning the league championship. And never having let the fans down yet, it is highly improbable that they will do so now.)

Coley Hall, having outlined his 16-point program for a Pacific Coast League championship club, is away to a fast start in the black ink race again. . . . He lead the league in this department last year. . . . Just a note on the Cougars. . . . Roger Leger is still unsigned. . . . and so actually is the Memorial Arena contract. . . . Al Kubasek who filled in for catcher Milt Martin of the A's Saturday in the Royal Canadian Navy. . . . Quote by Bonnie Smith, former Athletic: "They told me I was released to make room for Bill Carr; now I'm laughing". . . . Marty Krug, Jr., suffered a heart attack on the playing field recently. . . . It wasn't serious. . . . Members of the Athletic Booster Club are planning a trip to Vancouver, Saturday. . . . and rumor has it that the Shamrock Sideliners are getting primed for the league playoffs on the mainland. . . . If the Intercity Lacrosse League wants a benefit game why not turn the proceeds of the last league game here next Wednesday night against Nanaimo over to the cause. . . . The Shamrocks willing, of course. . . . The game will have no bearing on the league race. . . . Reo Jerome couldn't play for the Rocks because the New Westminster city fathers didn't think it right for a New Westminster boy to be playing against the Commandos, which might be the case. . . . Congratulations to Speed Kermode, or rather, Eddie's Boy, who placed third in the Longacres mile. . . . About the all-star game again. . . . The obligation to play is there, but who is to say whether a player is fit to play or not. . . . And what jurisdiction can the league exercise if, for example, the ever-loving Jack Proctor failed to show? . . . None is our guess. . . .

Women's A.A.U. Rejects Sprinter's Record Claim

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia branch of the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada Monday rejected the claim of Margaret Lightfoot for her performance in the 220-yard dash Saturday at Seattle in the Caledonian Games.

The Vancouver sprinter ran the distance in 24.5, within two-tenths of a second of the world record held by Marjorie Jackson of Australia.

Her time compared with the world record of 24.4 established in the 1948 Olympics by Fanny Blankers-Koen of Holland over 200 metres. The U.S. record is 24.5, held by Stella Walsh since 1941.

Secretary Ann Clark of the W.A.A.F., in announcing the rejection, said:

"The track was a straightaway track, compared with the official curved track.

"The time was not official. Only one stop-watch got Miss Lightfoot in that time, and there must be three to gain recognition, and the head timekeeper must verify it.

"None of the official timing practises were adhered to. . . ."

CANADIANS NOW DRIVE AUSTIN!

... and Economy is NOT the Only Reason

Why have 60,000 Canadians switched to Austin since Austin brought the now famous A-40 Devon 4-Door Sedan to Canada?

Is it Austin economy—a startling economy that makes one dollar take you as far as two dollars used to take you? Is it gas, oil and operating costs cut in half?

Yes, that's part of the reason. But only part.

Fifty thousand Canadians have discovered in Austin a driving satisfaction that can only come from a finely appointed, finely engineered car.

They've found—as you will find—a car that masters modern traffic conditions. . . . a car that's easy to handle, that parks anywhere, that's restfully comfortable, and smoothly effortless at any speed you want to drive. . . . a car that gives you everything you want, irrespective of economy.

With car costs what they are today, the Austin Story is a heart-warming story. See your nearby Austin dealer today.

BEDTIME STORY

by Thornton W. Burgess

Folks distracted seldom know
What to do, or Where to go.
—Old Mother Nature.

Little Mrs. Striped Chipmunk was distracted. That means that she was so worried, so anxious, that she could think of nothing but what was worrying her, and at the same time she didn't know what to do about it. One of four babies was lost. They were not really babies now, for they were almost ready to go out into the Great World themselves, but she still thought of them as babies. Mothers are that way.

One had always been smaller than the others. And for this reason mother had favored him more than the others. Mothers should never have favorites among their children, but sometimes they do. Mother Chipmunk did. She didn't mean to. She would have said that she loved her children all alike. But Little Stripes really was her favorite, and now he was lost.

She ran this way along the old stone wall. She ran that way along the old stone wall. She looked into all the openings between the stones. She scolded Striped Chipmunk because she thought he wasn't as worried as a father should be. Truth to tell, he wasn't as worried as she was.

"My dear, stop worrying," said he. "I am sure there is nothing to worry about. Little Stripes was ready to leave home and has simply gone to make a place for himself in the Great World."

"He wasn't ready," snapped Mrs. Chipmunk shortly. "How can you say such a thing? What does he know about the dangers of the Great World? Nothing. What does he know about finding his own food? Nothing. What does he know about digging a home for himself? Nothing. And you say he was ready to go out in the Great World?"

"He was as ready as I was when I started out in the Great World," declared Striped Chipmunk. "He was as ready as you were. How could he learn those things shut up in the house all the time? You know as well as I do there is only one way to learn those things, and that is by experience. You can't get experience outside by staying inside. He's a smart little rascal, so stop your worrying. What he finds out for himself he will remember."

"Redtail the Hawk may have caught him already. Redtail was over this way this morning," cried Mrs. Chipmunk.

"He didn't catch Little Stripes."

He didn't catch anybody over here. I was watching him," replied Striped Chipmunk.

"Black Pussy, that awful Cat, may have caught him," cried Mrs. Chipmunk.

"Black Pussy hasn't been over here this morning," retorted Striped Chipmunk.

Mother refused to be comforted. She still worried about Little Stripes, and for the time being seemed to forget his brother and sisters who were still at home.

Life Term For Murder Without Any Trace Of Victim's Body

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (Reuters)—George Cecil Horry, the "bridegroom of death," was sentenced to hard labor for life today for murdering his wife Mary the day after their wedding nine years ago.

Police have searched unsuccessfully for Mary's body ever since and to the end of the trial Horry, 44, maintained he was innocent. He told the court after sentence today: "She went to America and to the best of my knowledge she is still there."

Horry's defense lawyer said he could not find any jury in the British Empire which had convicted a person of murder in the absence of a body, except where direct evidence—such as a confession—showed the victim was dead.

The judge declared that if the jury were convinced that Mary was dead and were equally certain that Horry killed her, then they were entitled to act on that view.

The prosecutor said Horry swept Mary off her feet and "having no money of his own got her to marry him so he could obtain her money and then destroy her."

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra embarked on the Cunard liner Queen Elizabeth Monday night for its first visit to Europe since 1930. The orchestra, 105 members strong, will play Aug. 21 and Aug. 23, at the festival celebration in Edinburgh.

Fix-It-Yourself Garage Popular

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—You "fix it yourself" at a new self-service garage in Minneapolis. The idea of letting a car owner repair his own automobile is paying off for Jerry Halvorsen, 37, and Jack Morgan, 33. For 75 cents an hour, amateur mechanics are permitted to use the garage's tools. If they get stuck, they can call on Halvorsen and Morgan for advice.

NEW MEDICAL DISCOVERY MUST CORRECT CONSTIPATION —OR WE PAY DOCTOR'S FEE!

NEVER BEFORE has there been such a constipation corrective with such assurance of positive relief!

No laxative in medical history can offer proof of such action and results! Easy-to-take Melcalose tablets give gentle, corrective relief without purging or griping... correct years of constipation and maintain that normal function without harsh drugs.

Actual medical records prove that Melcalose can restore normal regularity in as little as 7 days—even in people who have suffered from constipation for 20 or 30 years!

HERE AT LAST is a material that causes no stomach upset, passes unchanged through the digestive system, goes to work only after it reaches the place where constipation occurs... in the clogged, sluggish colon! This means that without violent purging, sickening nausea or digestive disturbances of any kind, without the endless inconvenience of messy seeds or granules, slippery oils or bitter salts... you at last experience natural, normal elimination!

MELCALOSE DISSOLVES into a mild, non-purging gel which mixes completely with the contents of the colon to provide gentle, corrective relief; to produce light, smooth bowel movements. Once this rhythmic activity is restored and maintained, constipation no longer exists!

Melcalose is not a laxative... but a bowel regulator! Melcalose tablets produce no stomach upset; nausea, cramps or diarrhea. They do not lose their effectiveness with use. No increase in Melcalose dosage will ever be necessary.

YOU DON'T NEED A DOCTOR'S PRESCRIPTION for Melcalose tablets. They're HARMLESS TO TAKE EVEN OVER A LONG PERIOD OF TIME! Remember Melcalose gives assurance of results that no laxative has ever dared offer! They're at your druggists now, in bottles of 65 and 130 tablets. Get a bottle and start correcting your constipation, today!

MELCALOSE DIFFERENT FROM ALL OTHERS!

ORDINARY "LAXATIVES" OFTEN UPSET ENTIRE DIGESTIVE TRACT

MELCALOSE TABLETS GO TO WORK WHERE CONSTIPATION ACTUALLY TAKES PLACE... HAVE REMARKABLE SOOTHING COLON-ACTION.

Continual use of harsh laxatives tends to upset entire digestive tract; draw off needed water; may prolong constipation indefinitely... Melcalose Tablets have effect only where constipation takes place! Do not interfere with vitamin and mineral absorption.

RESIDENTS OF THIS AREA:

Take MELCALOSE TABLETS according to simple directions. Should you fail to find positive corrective relief within 7 days, we believe you should see your doctor promptly—and we will pay for the visit on the same scale and basis provided for general medical care in the Associated Medical Services or Physicians' Services Incorporated plans—when your doctor certifies that your constipation was not corrected. This is our pledge to you—that MELCALOSE will bring the relief you need!

Peach Season Best In Years

Mrs. R. S. Bevan, 363 Sunset Avenue, displays one of the "king-sized" peaches she and her husband grew in their back yard this year. Specimen weighs just over 13 ounces. A few blocks away Francis H. Harris, 747 Monterey, grew peach weighing three-quarters of a pound. Growers say this is one of the best and earliest seasons for many years.

Says Pressure Used To Admit Some Patients

FERNIE (CP)—Some patients in small British Columbia communities are able to pressure their doctors into sending them to hospital for X-rays when they are actually not ill enough to be there, Dr. George Leroux of Fernie, said Monday.

He made the statement during an exchange with Harold Winch of the special legislature inquiry committee investigating hospital insurance.

He said doctors sometimes ordered patients into hospital beds that entitles them to receive X-rays and other diagnostic treatment free under hospital insurance, although benefits are supposed to cover only acutely ill patients.

"Do you mean to say that some doctors actually are pressured to put patients into hospital for diagnosis rather than treatment?" Mr. Winch asked. "After some sparring, Dr. Leroux said: 'Yes, and you know it is, or you are very naïve.' 'We are not naïve,' Mr. Winch replied. 'This board has a big job on its hands and, believe me, it is not naïve.'"

Dr. Leroux said the cases of this type arise principally in connection with X-rays. "If Joe or Minnie Glotz go in, receive X-rays and leave, they pay for it themselves. But if they go in and lie down for a day or two, B.C.H.S. pays," he explained.

He said if a doctor refused to have Joe or Minnie admitted, "some higher person in the community phones and says: 'Give Joe, or Minnie, a break.'"

P.C.H.L. To Play Schedule Of 70 Games

SEATTLE (UP)—Saskatoon, Edmonton and Calgary hockey clubs, new entrants in the Pacific Coast Hockey League, will play 35 games each at home and away from home, league president Al Leader said today.

The five coast clubs also will play a 70-game schedule, and standings will be kept as one league only instead of in eastern and western divisions, Leader said.

League directors will meet in Seattle, August 29 and 30, at which time the playing schedule will be approved and playoff plans for the coming season will be worked out. The season opens Friday, October 5, in Vancouver and closes Sunday, March 23, in Seattle.

Nomination Date Is Set

Nomination day for the Esquimalt by-elections has been set for Saturday, Sept. 22, it was announced today by Premier Byron Johnson.

He withheld announcement on polling day, which has been set tentatively for Monday, Oct. 1. Nominations will close at one in the afternoon at the Esquimalt Municipal Hall.

To facilitate voters, the former Cobble Hill polling division has been divided into two sections to allow voting at Mill Bay.

Tenders Are Due August 22 On Club Remodeling

Tenders for extensive remodeling of the Colwood golf clubhouse, now owned by the Sisters of the Love of Jesus, are due Aug. 22, and work on the $30,000 project will probably start shortly after that date, Mr. John Wade, of Birley, Wade and Stockhill, architects, said today. The new owners take possession of the building Wednesday.

To be used as a hospital for the aged, the building will comply with modern standards of construction set for all B.C. hospitals, Mr. Wade said.

Plans call for installation of outside fire escapes, conversion of locker rooms to wards, and complete re-wiring of the building to conform with the electrical code.

Mr. Wade said he expects the building will be ready in mid-November. Building material shortages are not expected to hold up the project, since hospital construction enjoys a high priority rating.

The Mother Priore of the Sisters of the Love of Jesus said today that three institutions whose occupants were said to be going to the new Colwood hospital will remain open.

St. Gregory's-by-the-Sea Convalescent Home and St. Mary's Home, a residence for elderly people, will be open until after Christmas, while the Glenish Hotel, another residence for elderly people, will remain open indefinitely.

Oil Burner Installations Are Checked

In the midst of a house-to-house survey to check up on fire hazard conditions, city fire officials reported today that firemen had discovered a number of oil burner installations that had been illegally installed without a permit from the department.

Deputy Fire Chief Frank Briers warned that those who make these installations without a permit are subject to prosecution. Permit reveal to the department where oil burners are installed so that they can be inspected for defects before being put into operation.

In the most ambitious fire-prevention campaign ever attempted locally, city fire department personnel are covering the city block by block to see if there are dangerous conditions that might result in loss of life and property.

"We've covered about 2,500 homes thus far and the men have found nothing very serious, except for the illegal installations and a few sheds that have to come down," said the deputy.

He said there have been cases of dangerous fire hazard conditions in attics and basements.

Pleads Guilty To Second Charge

The case of M. and W. U-Drive Ltd. was remanded to tomorrow for penalty on two charges concerning rented cars.

Robert MacMillan appeared as a representative of the firm and changed Monday's plea of not guilty to one of guilty on a charge of renting a car to a person without a current year's driver's license. He pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of failing to have a rental car equipped with a governor.

Mrs. Minnie Crossley Succumbs In Hospital

Mrs. Minnie Crossley, 61, wife of Frank Crossley, ex-R.C.M.P. and Alberta Provincial Police officer, 2738 Graham Street, died in Jubilee Hospital Monday.

In addition to her husband survivors include a son, CPO, S. R. Crossley, R.C.N., stationed in Halifax, and a daughter, Mrs. Charles Powell of Edmonton. Other relatives are a brother, Ross Kennedy, of Roberts Creek, B.C., and four sisters in California.

Services will be held Friday in the Thomson Funeral Home at 2:30. Rev. T. Greenhalgh will officiate. Interment will follow at at Royal Oak Burial Park.

Police Meetings Continue

The city police commission and police department heads resumed closed-door meetings Monday afternoon to continue discussion aimed at ironing out alleged dissension within the police department.

Mayor Percy George, chairman, said today that the meetings have been closed as a result of a majority vote by the commission. Commissioners Brent Murdoch and James Neely are other members of the board.

The mayor explained that the meetings will continue in camera until reports from the chief, his deputy, two inspectors and

FARMERS PUT CASE BEFORE MILK BOARD

See 'Last Stand' Against Rising Prices; When Winter Feed Gone Many Will Quit

By DON INGHAM

More than 100 Cowichan district farmers packed the Duncan Knights of Pythias Hall today in the second Vancouver Island hearing of the B.C. Milk Board on an application from producers for an increase in the price paid them for fluid milk.

Third sitting will be in Nanaimo tomorrow. "This is the last stand in a long fight against rising costs," one producer said at the session. "Unless something is done some of us will have to go out of business."

The board, consisting of E. C. Carr, chairman, Prof. Harry King, and Mrs. Rex Eaton, heard Henry G. Robinson, secretary of Vancouver Island Dairyman's Association, present the case of the Cowichan farmers. Their problems are similar to those of Greater Victoria milk producers, who aired their views before the milk board here Monday.

At the afternoon session in Victoria Mr. Robinson, who presented a brief for Victoria district farmers, listed differences between Island and mainland production.

Mainland Pasture Cheaper

"The retail price there is 2 cents lower than here," he said. "Mainland producers have cheaper pasture through a much longer season, and lower freight charges on imported feed and manufactured articles."

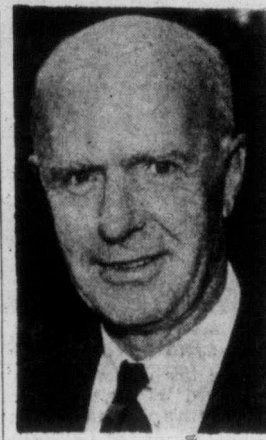

"Perhaps this area should not attempt 100 per cent supply of consumers," Prof. King interjected.

LABOR PROBLEM

The labor problem, claimed by the producers to be the most serious of all, was discussed by William Taylor, who told the board he was one of the largest milk producers in the district. Sympathy for the producers was expressed by Mrs. H. L.

Smith, president of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Association of Consumers. "Women do not oppose an increase in price to the producer," she said. "We have been impressed by the review of the producers' problem. Our concern is with the rising cost of living, and if the cost of milk is raised we do not want the consumer to have to bear the full increase."

"Don't get the idea that we are a city group," she told the board. "Farm wives are consumers also, and some of our most prominent members are affiliated with the women's institutes."

A former vice-consul at Galveston, Texas, Mr. Evans was named in the King's Birthday Honors list. At today's investiture he received the insignia of the civil division of the order at the hands of the Lieutenant-Governor.

Walkout At Plant Here Is Denied

Conflicting reports of workmen leaving the job at the $2,000,000 plywood plant being built here for B.C. Forest Products were issued today by two unions contending for jurisdiction.

A spokesman for the Carpenters and Joiners' Union (A.F.L.-T.L.C.), said that "about 10" Vancouver men, in sympathy with aims of the carpenters' union and dissatisfied with lack of board and room allowance, had quit.

An official of the International Woodworkers of America (I.O.-C.C.L.), denying the statement, said the men had merely been moved to other jobs.

Meanwhile, a decision by the Labor Relations Board on an application by the I.W.A. for certification as bargaining agents for employees of B.C. Contractors Ltd., the firm building the plant, was still pending today. The carpenters' union has protested the I.W.A.'s application, asking for a hearing.

ELBERTON, Ga. (AP)—A five-foot chicken snake swallowed one nest egg too many at Albert Dye's hen house. After crawling into a nest and downing one china egg, the snake poked its head through a crack into the next nest and gulped down another. That pegged the reptile. The first egg kept it from going on through, the second from withdrawing.

Blunt Statements Jar Buttle Hearing

Commission Charged With Letting Cheap 'Special Contracts' Out

Some of the hardest punches thrown so far at the B.C. Power Commission in the five-day-old public hearing on its proposed damming of Buttle Lake in Strathcona Park for John Hart plant water storage came at the morning session today at the Crystal Garden.

In the blows was the combined strength of Fish and Game Association throughout the province.

Blunt statements in a brief presented by the B.C. sportsmen counsel through Duncan Marshall, Campbell River sporting goods storeman, were aimed at jolting the commission's plans for Buttle.

Among other charges leveled by the sportsmen was the suggestion that the commission, in its proposed use of Buttle Lake,

"figures it could make a good showing at first and let a few more cheap 'special contracts'."

"There is just one reason why the commission prefers the Buttle Lake site," Mr. Marshall said, "it would save the commission a few dollars."

"But the savings would be at the expense of every man, woman and child of the province, now and for as far into the future as you like to look."

Push Upper Campbell Project

The sportsmen spokesman argued that the damming of Upper Campbell Lake instead of Buttle would give the Commission the water storage needed without ruining the last remaining wilderness area on Vancouver Island.

He said Strathcona Park was needed:

- (1) As the last place undisturbed by man for people to visit;
- (2) As the only remaining untouched "laboratory" of coast forest conditions where scientist can study native animals under natural conditions and plan soundly for their preservation;
- (3) As an integral part of the recreational facilities of the province;
- (4) As an important part of future planning for the already great and constantly expanding tourist industry.

"Yes," said Mr. Marshall, "we need Strathcona Park for all of these purposes and we mean to have it." "We are satisfied the commission's proposal will destroy most of the park's essential values. 'We feel there is completely satisfactory water storage available elsewhere in the district. And we know that wise resource management as well as decent behaviour demands that the alternative be used.'"

Mr. Marshall referred to suggestions that Buttle could still have value as park land after damming, and he stated: "We have previous and present experience of the commission's understanding of coast conditions and recreational values, none of it calculated to inspire confidence."

He described conditions at Lower Campbell Lake flooded by the Ladore dam of the power commission where clearing debris blocked the shoreline. "The mess there has turned away tourists with thousands of dollars from the district because tourist and visitors cannot enjoy a holiday in such surroundings."

Mr. Marshall said that despite statements by the power commission that channels had been cleared through log jams, visitors were still turning away when they saw what they were up against.

First power commission witness called in the hearing so far took the stand at the opening of the day session.

SMITH TESTIFIES

The renowned Campbell River hunter, Cecil J. (Cougar) Smith, gave information on the habits of elk and other wild life in the district.

The commission is expected to present its whole case Wednesday after all opposition testimony has been heard. Mr. Smith testified the flooding of Upper Campbell Lake would destroy the main winter storage ground for elk in the area.

He said, however, that the elk would migrate to other feeding grounds.

Odds And Ends For Picnic Or For The Kitchen Shelf

By PENNY SAVER

A cloud in the sky doesn't necessarily mean there'll be mud in your eye or even a wee drop of rain! Consequently, when it is noted by a group of would-be picnickers that clouds have gathered, they merely ignore them and are away to the beach in nothing flat. It's no wonder this situation prevails, for in the last weeks clouds have gathered, 'tis true, but all they seem to do is sit around up there!

It would seem perfectly in place, then, if I mention a few tidbits for the lovers of the great outdoors.

For the picnic basket there are new sets of plastic jars with lids. Actually they're perfect for leftovers, the contents of that lone broken egg, or for liquids.

The little jars are designed with tight-fitting lids to prevent any spilling, and measure about 3 to 3½ inches high. They're food and liquid savers at $1.15 for a set of six.

MARY HAWORTH

Woman Doesn't Know What It Is To Love, Laugh, Enjoy Friendships

Dear Mary Haworth—Why is it that I can never have an honest laugh, or feel sincere friendships, or say something I truly mean? Why can't I know what it is to love, or to experience sex satisfaction? Why haven't I the power to appreciate things as they really are? I am lost and I suffer greatly. Please help me, because I know that I am endangering the happiness of those close to me.

From the surface view, I should be happy. I have a good husband (whom I have never loved), nice children and a comfortable home. Yet I never can enjoy the present moment. I am always hoping that the next moment, or next season or next year will bring what I am looking for. I have Mary Haworth no respect for my parents, and I feel happy away from my brothers and sisters as our mode of living differs greatly.

My childhood was unhappy and insecure, because at times we were wealthy and at other times poor.—F.P.

STILL COMBATING EARLY FRUSTRATIONS

Dear F.P.—I have discussed your recital with a specialist, whose insight affords valuable clues to the pattern of your difficulty. I think—First, he notes that your compulsive addiction to "discipline"—your con-a stick, then pop into the ice cube section of the 'frig... the juice, that is! When once hardened the sucker is freed from its mold by giving it a bit of a push. The cooling refreshment is a treat and a new way of serving the juice. In 69-cent package you'll find 4 molds and a package of sticks.

Handy for a tiny kitchen or pantry are the new sets of metal hooks for kitchen, broom closet or tool room. With two lengths on which to hang a dish cloth, spoons, can opener and little gadgets that ordinarily get thrown into a drawer, the set is 25 cents. Would serve in bedroom, too, for your collection of belts.

Heard a customer inquire about a jar wrench this morning, just as I picked it up for inspection. The metal pincer takes a firm hold on a fruit jar cap and with little elbow grease supplied by the user will unscrew as easily as a housewife throws her budget book to the winds, come hat sale season. A smaller wrench for the handle will quite naturally open smaller caps. Yours, for the looking, and 45 cents.

A rubber spout for the snout of the teapot for all of 10 pennies. Nothing fancy, mind, for it's a plain brown, but a saver of teapots.

Brown, too, and of pottery are the mugs I spied this day. Surprised to note they were only 59 pennies and sported a firm handle with which to lift a steaming portion of coffee.

Welfare Leader Stresses The Needs Of War Victims

OTTAWA (CP).—Is there a service club looking for a job? A Canadian welfare project—the Canadian Children's Club in Vienna—needs a lot of help right now. The Unitarian Service Committee, which has looked after this organization for more than two years, feels it must have more assistance if the project is to expand.

"If more funds were available for the Canadian Children's Club we could employ more personnel, buy more food," says Dr. Lotta Hiltzmanova, Canadian director of the U.S.C. Dr. Hiltzmanova now is touring Europe to get—at first hand—a picture of the welfare work being done with the help of Canadian contributors.

In a letter to U.S.C. headquarters here she says more funds would mean that more children—there now are 200 youngsters in the home—would have a place to spend their spare time instead of on the streets.

"I dream of the day when some Canadian service club will make this truly Canadian project their own," writes Dr. Hiltzmanova. During her tour of Italy Dr. Hiltzmanova found Rome and the whole of Italy filled with tourists "who are having a wonderful time sightseeing, eating and shopping."

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Be Sensible About Aging; Avoid Neurotic Tendency

With this menopause copy in mind I had a talk recently with one of New York's top gynecologists. I asked him what he considered to be the main misconceptions and the important dangers of menopause. He answered: "Women should not have unusual or irregular bleeding at menopause. There is always a reason for this and when they have it they should immediately go to a physician to discover the reason. Tell them that."

He went on to explain that women often think irregularities of all sorts are due to menopause if they are of that age. It may be that the irregularity is due to hormone imbalance but such an experience can also come from benign tumors or malignant ones. Time is of the greatest importance. The Papanicolaou test is now used by many doctors. In this a smear is taken to discover whether or not cancer cells are present.

So if your periods are appearing too often, or if they are in one way or another unusual, if you have missed your periods for a number of months and then have one do not be frightened but do be sensible and see your physician. Even if this is only a part of menopause it can be controlled with hormone therapy but this must always be prescribed by a doctor.

The gynecologist with whom I talked also advised women in the menopause age group to have examinations every six months, not because menopause causes cancer but because women of menopause age are also in the age group in which cancer zooms. This is purely smart preventive medicine.

I asked this eminent physician whether from his experience, he feels that many women have difficulty at change of life. He answered: "No, very few of them, but those who do have uncomfortable symptoms should take advantage of modern hormone treatment. They should tell their doctors about their discomforts. They do not have to endure them."

I asked him whether a woman ages more rapidly after menopause. He said, "No, there is no evidence of that."

I asked him whether a woman has to expect her bust to shrink and her face to fall after menopause. He smiled and said, "No reason at all. That depends more on body tone and good health."

I have had to write this column very frankly if it is to be helpful to you. I had to do it because I believe that many lives are lost each year because of lack of the information which this column brings you. Heed the warnings and forget the bugbears!

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 32 "Menopause" send a stamped self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Young Canadian Artist Brings Paints And Brushes On Her Victoria Vacation

Strollers in Beacon Hill Park at any time during the past week might have seen a dark-haired, bright-faced young woman, using brushes and paints to capture the fleeting light on the lake, or the warm shadows under the tall trees.

"I'm really on holiday," she would have said, if anyone had stopped to talk to her. "But there is so much beauty in your city, I simply have to take a bit of it away with me."

Miss Flier came to Victoria with her mother, Mrs. E. L. Flier, 4611 Angus Drive, Vancouver, for a brief vacation. They returned to the mainland today.

"Although I have always had the urge to paint," she said yesterday, "I came to my career in a rather roundabout way."

The Flier family lived in Regina during her teen-age years, where there was at that time very little outlet for art.

"So I put painting aside and trained for a nurse," she said, "graduated from the Regina hospital with a general proficiency gold medal, too."

She took post-graduate work at Montreal Neurological Institute, and spent the war years in the nursing service.

"After the war I went back to my first love," she explained, and then added, "I was in Montreal, so how could I help it?"

She was appointed to the fine arts staff at McGill when the department was opened, studied at the same time and was the first graduate to receive the bachelor of fine arts degree.

This clever young artist had a showing of her paintings in the western arts circuit last year; she has had a show in Montreal also a small exhibit at the University of London last year, when she was taking a summer course there.

Several of her paintings are owned by the Toronto Art Gallery, and others are in various private collections across Canada.

Miss Mary Harris Flier started her career as an artist when she was a small child and with only one divergence, during war years, has continued her work in Canada and in England.

The ambitious young woman also instructs in extension classes at McGill and she has an art centre of her own for adults in the town of Mount Royal. She is a member of the Canadian Society of Graphic Artists. Her greatest interest is in the child field.

"It is fascinating to watch the personality of a child appear through the medium of creative art," she said, "there is an aesthetic quality in the work that is lost when one reaches the adult stage."

Miss Flier returns to Montreal in September.

Daughter Of Well-Known Canadian Singer Makes Point Singing Career

LONDON (CP)—Toronto-born Gwen Dainty, daughter of the late Dainty, well-known Canadian pianist, makes her debut tonight in the Orchid Room, Mayfair Night Club.

Gwen, who shortened her name for stage purposes, hoped at one time to follow her father's lead on the concert stage. He told her, however: "You may be good, but you'll never be great," and Gwen turned her attention to other forms of entertainment.

"I just wasn't interested in anything but the top," she said in an interview.

The vivacious 23-year-old is known as a "point singer." In other words, she speaks almost as much as she sings.

She picked cabaret "because it's one of the most difficult spots in show business."

"You've got to be good to hold the attention of an audience equally interested in eating and dancing," the slender five-foot-eight star said.

She has played many straight theatre parts in London and in the Ottawa Repertory Company but she intends to stick with cabaret from now on.

Gwen first came to London in 1943 with a Canadian army show and after a Continental tour of army camps in the war zones, returned to England to study. Later she played Shakespearean roles in London's open-air theatre and after subsequent straight theatre parts returned to Canada to help settle her father's estate and publish his music.

Back in London, Gwen hopes to remain at the Orchid Room until October when she leaves for Paris—to learn the language fluently and perhaps appear in an exclusive Paris club. She has no immediate intentions of returning to work in Canada.

Plans for a shower for the fall bazaar were made at a meeting of Lodge Primrose No. 32, Daughters of England. Date of the shower will be announced at September meeting.

Mrs. J. Osler presided, assisted by past president Mrs. J. Wyman. Visitors included Mrs. E. Baker, Princess Alexandra Lodge, and Mrs. J. Bonnell, Glazier Lodge No. 82, Vancouver.

Date of a fall rummage sale was set as Sept. 26, and of the fall bazaar as Oct. 26.

Vacationists From Mainland

For seven-year-old Beverley-Ann Lowe, pictured with her mother, Mrs. Ronald Lowe, Vancouver, a holiday trip to Victoria means a happy vacation with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. F. Bumpus, Beach Drive. The mainland visitors plan to remain in this city for 10 days. On their return to Vancouver Beverley-Ann will prepare to commence her third year at Crofton House School.

Greenwood-Mayhew Wedding In Summer Floral Setting

Tall white standard baskets of gladioli decorated Metropolitan United Church Saturday evening when Mona Irene Mayhew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan E. Mayhew, Belcher Avenue, became the bride of William Eric Greenwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Greenwood, Richmond Avenue. Dr. John Doyle officiated.

Mrs. Enid Green sang "Through the Years," during the signing of the register, accompanied by Mrs. A. Brown.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown styled with fitted lace bodice over satin, lily-point sleeves, double-tiered full skirt with floating panels of lace edged with delicate ruffles of net. Her full-length net veil, edged with lace, was caught in a tiara of rhinestones and seed pearls. She wore a brooch set with zircons in the shape of a lover's knot, a gift of the groom, and carried a cascade bouquet of red roses with stephanotis and white heather.

Miss Joan Severson, bridesmaid, was gowned in blue nylon brocade net over tulle and carried a cascade bouquet of yellow gladioli. Miss Margaret Creasey, also a bridesmaid, chose a gown of nylon eyelet embroidery and a bouquet of blue tinted gladioli.

Nieces of the groom, Judy and Daphne Verbeke, were flower girls in Kate Greenwood dresses of pink and blue silk. They carried Colonial bouquets in pastel shades.

The groom chose his brother, Jack Greenwood, North Battleford, Sask., as best man and ushers were J. W. Birtwistle and Duncan Stewart.

At the wedding reception, held at O.E.S. Hall, the newlyweds received guests beneath a decorated arch. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake and decorated with a hand-crocheted lace cloth; white candles in silver holders and pastel-toned sweet peas. Walter Lind, Vancouver, proposed the toast.

Upon leaving for her honeymoon up-island, Mrs. Greenwood donned a black sheer dress complemented with black felt hat, white trim and off-white shortie coat with white accessories. Her corsage bouquet was red roses and stephanotis.

Members of the Los Angeles Lancashire Society were entertained recently when they attended the radio program "Housewives Holiday" and were interviewed by Gordon Reid and Tommy O'Neill. Following the air show a luncheon was given at the home of Mrs. G. M. Baker. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. T. Hartley, Mr. and Mrs. F. Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. C. Watkinson, Mesdames C. Ingram, E. Woodruff, F. Spiller, Miss Walken and Mr. F. Walken.

Many gifts were arranged around a decorated three-tier cake for the shower party given by Miss Myrtle Dent and Mrs. A. V. Dent, Rutledge Street, in honor of Miss Winnifred Birtwistle. Peach gladioli on corsage were presented to the bride and her mother.

"Headache?..take a Disprin"

Why DISPRIN? Because DISPRIN is soluble and substantially neutral. When taken in water as recommended, it enters the stomach as a true solution and not as undissolved particles. It is therefore less liable to cause stomach discomfort.

DISPRIN is readily absorbed. Because it definitely dissolves (not merely disintegrates) DISPRIN permits speedy absorption and gives relief without delay.

DISPRIN is palatable. Even children will take it readily.

Auto Trade Makes Fantastic Deals

By HARRY YOUNG, Times Business Editor

A sharp slowdown in production of Canadian automobiles and consequent wave of unemployment in the industry is regarded as a certainty within a few weeks unless the government takes steps "to make the purchase of new cars a practical proposition."

This is the view of a prominent Victoria automobile dealer who declares that inventories all over the country are becoming so heavy that dealers are having to refuse to take further shipments from the factories.

All sorts of deals are being concocted by a harassed trade to get cars moving. One firm in Vancouver offers a trade in of $500 for a jack-knife on the purchase of a specified new car.

Another Vancouver firm gives a choice of an eight-tube radio, an electric washer, an electric stove or a television set as a gift to each car purchaser.

Victoria has not yet got to these extremes but local dealers in "an effort to keep up with the shipments of new cars are offering far more than the market value for second hand cars to form part of a new car sale."

One firm is reported to have offered more than the original price for a year-old dealer car in exchange for a dearer Canadian model.

"We have to sacrifice our profits on these deals to keep trade moving," explained a dealer.

He explained that the average Canadian car took $2,800 to put on the road in Victoria. Even if the trade-in meets the required down payment of $1,400, the stiff credit restrictions, which compel the completion of the loan in 12 monthly payments, put the new car out of the reach of the average wage earner.

"The pay back on a $1,400 loan is something like $150 a month, and there are very few who can afford anything like that," said the dealer.

The dealer pointed out that the effects of the credit restriction and the increased 10 per cent in excise tax, which were both applied early this year, are only now being felt.

Dealers did well in January and February before the restrictions came into effect and then, even after Finance Minister Abbott clapped on his extra excise duty in April, most car dealers did not raise their prices on existing stocks.

The result was that the months of April and May were good, until the pre-budget stock was exhausted.

"The rude awakening came in June when all the concessions had disappeared. Car sales went down sharply by 35 per cent. The July figures are not ready yet but they are going to show an even more depressing tale," said the dealer. "We are all taking a beating." Already many used-car lots have been closed down.

Meanwhile dealers are turning their eyes to Ottawa for help. They take heart from the U.S. action of August 6 when the car purchase terms were modified to one-third down payment and repayment of the loan in 18 months.

As it has been Ottawa's fashion to follow the U.S. lead in these matters, it is expected that Mr. Abbott may make a similar concession for the Canadian car industry within the next few weeks.

He is known to be greatly perturbed at the threat that a number of Canadian automobile factories may be forced either to close down or work on a shortened week.

"Abbott is beginning to see that he is carrying his deflation policy too far," said the dealer.

The 12 per cent increase on special transcontinental freight rates came into effect today and affected the transportation charges of some 300 items from the Vancouver Island area.

The loss of these freight concessions is due chiefly to the fact that the railways no longer have to face the competition of the deep-sea route between eastern and western Canada via the Panama Canal. The withdrawal of this service, through lack of sufficient business, was a serious blow to the British Columbia coastline.

The freight rates committee of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce is clinging desperately to straws in an effort to save some of the old privileges accorded Victoria.

It finds, for instance, that Victoria has already lost its standing as a terminal port by a number of steamship companies. This means that on ships run by these companies, there is an extra forwarding charge from Vancouver (the recognized terminal) even if the ship calls at the port of Victoria.

Duncan MacBride and his freight rates committee are finding slowly and sorrowfully that this city is failing to keep pace with the fast development and enterprise of Vancouver Island.

A record sum of $25,895,057 is being paid in Canadian dividends during the month of August. It is an increase of over $10,000,000 from the corresponding month last year.

The increase is chiefly due to the C.P.R. dividend which last year was paid in October. According to J. R. Timmins & Co., of Toronto, the C.P.R. payment boosted the utilities dividends for the month from $4,044,415 to $13,158,991.

Industrial dividends were also higher due to the resumption of dividends by Atlas Steel, a change of dividend policy by B.C. Forest Products and an increased rate by Price Bros.

In mines East Sullivan, New Calumet and Sullivan Consolidated made higher dividend payments.

For the first eight months of 1951, the total dividends paid by Canadian firms were $322,180,196. This compared with $277,405,604 in the first eight months of 1950.

Canada Seeks Better Deal On Free Gold

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada will seek a better deal for her gold-mining industry at financial talks next month in Washington.

Hon. Douglas Abbott, Canada's finance minister for the last five years, will take the chairmanship of a firm policy on the part of more than 40 countries gathered for the joint annual meeting of the International Monetary Fund and World Bank.

The meeting of the six-year-old organizations takes place Sept. 10. The chairmanship is rotated annually.

Two contentious gold topics likely will be discussed: Dissatisfaction by producing countries with the world price for gold fixed by the fund; development of a firm policy on the amount of gold the fund will allow members to sell on the so-called "free" market.

South Africa, the world's biggest gold producer, has been critical of the fund's policy to keep the price of gold fixed at $35 an ounce in United States funds.

Canada, with an eye cocked on her cost-ridden gold-mining industry, is preparing to back South Africa for a higher gold price, but only to the extent that such a price will not engender economic chaos.

She is prepared to demand, too, that she get the same concessions granted South Africa which has been selling up to 40 per cent of her production on the "free" market, where gold generally sells for slightly more than the fixed price. Her contention will be that if restrictions are lifted in favor of South Africa, then they should be lifted in favor of Canada as well.

Grain

WINNIPEG (CP)—All grain prices declined in moderately active trade today.

Fair resting orders appeared in oats and barley, including American demand in oats and seaboard and export buying in barley. Light American demand also appeared in rye, but here too selling outweighed the buying. Flax trade was inactive, with prices lower.

Declines were in response to large private estimates of crops and also by reports of favorable weather across the prairies.

Export loadings of Canadian wheat included 55,000 bushels to the United Kingdom, 75,000 to Norway and 15,000 to Costa Rica. Further reports indicated a cargo of Canadian barley had been sold to Norway, while Germany was inquiring into possible barley business.

Class two and I.W.A. wheat prices advanced one-quarter cent from yesterday.

The Life Of A Movieland
Extra Appears A Sorry Lot

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Howard
Philbrick, who ordinarily can spot a movie trend a mile away,
got caught with his cycles down
last week.
Philbrick is the chief of Central Casting, the outfit which supplies extra players for Hollywood studios. He can tell what kinds of pictures are being made by scanning the order lists for extra talent.
"But I got caught out on a limb," admitted Philbrick. "I guess I should have seen the trend to musicals a month ago.
But it sneaked up on me and I found we were too low on dancers."
"And so I did something that was a complete reversal of our usual policy. For years, we have done everything we can to discourage people from seeking to enter extra work. But this time
I issued publicity that we needed young dancers. I'm beginning to regret it now, because we have been flooded with applicants.
"Actually, we don't need too many dancers, except when there is a musical cycle such as we're in now. But the kind of dancers

we need are rather specialized.
They have to be that rare combination — girls who are good looking and shapely, plus better than average dancers.
Aside from beautiful, talented dancers, the employment outlook for extras is not promising, Phil-brick indicated. At one time Central Casting had as many as 20,000 persons on its rolls. Now the list numbers 3,500. It would seem that those who are left could expect steady work, but it doesn't work out that way.
"Ten years ago, we averaged from 1,000 to 1,200 extra jobs a day," Philbrick said. "Today the average is 400."
Some extras can earn as much as $4,000 a year. These are mostly dress extras, the grande dames and elegant males who decorate night club scenes, etc.
But others earn as little as $300 annually. The average is about $1,400.
